UNION HEADS CALLED 'CORRUPT'

State To Free Bridges May 15

Lifting Of Tolls Assured

HARRISBURG (UP)—A state Highways Department spokesman said today the state's 10 remaining toll bridges will be freed May 15.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said the definite date was decided upon today after a staff conference. He said the exact time of day for the lifting of tolls will be decided within a day or so.

Only last weekend the department indicated the bridges might not be freed until May 20 because of some details to be ironed out.

The 10 spans are the Market and Walnut Street bridges at Harrisburg; Eighth Street, Allentown; Ellwood - Koppel; Sunbury; Minsi Trail and New Street, Bethlehem; Charleroi-Monessen; Point Marion and Clarks Ferry, Duncannon.

All Must Be Paid

They were taken over by the state from private companies in 1949 and 1950 at a cost of $7,731,000, financed through an $8,500,000 bond issue. The law required that all must be paid off before they could be freed.

Gov. George M. Leader last March vetoed Republican-sponsored legislation to free the bridges May 30, because of Highways Department plans to lift charges earlier.

The department is making a study to determine how many of the 135 toll bridge employes it can absorb into the agency's operations after the collectors lose their jobs May 15.

MAKING FUNERAL PLANS — Colleagues of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy leave his Washington home after making funeral arrangements with his widow. Delegates are (from left) Senators William Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire along with Senate Sergeant-at-arms Joseph Duke and Minority Secretary Mark Trice. A state funeral was held this morning in the Senate chamber.

Capital Says Farewell To Senator McCarthy

WASHINGTON (UP) — The capital said farewell to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today with eulogies in church and Senate chamber for his campaigns against Communism.

In high-vaulted St. Matthew's Cathedral, where McCarthy was married four years ago, his grieving widow and friends heard him praised as a courageous "watchman of the citadel."

Then in the Senate chamber where he rose to prominence and later was condemned by his colleagues, the controversial Republican from Wisconsin was extolled as an intrepid fighter against the "malignant powers of darkness."

Flown to Wisconsin

The two ceremonies preceded the departure of an airplane bearing McCarthy's body back to his home town, Appleton, Wis., for final burial rites Tuesday. McCarthy died unexpectedly Thursday at Bethesda Naval Medical Center of a liver ailment.

At St. Matthew's before 2,000 mourners Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle sang a solemn pontificial mass of requiem over the flag-draped casket. The cathedral's pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John K. Cartwright, praised McCarthy as a courageous "watchman" who alerted his countrymen to the menace of Communism.

Mrs. McCarthy, the beautiful 31-year-old Jean, held back her tears until the very end of the cathedral service. When Archbishop O'Boyle took her hand and spoke a few gentle words, she bowed her head and wept for a moment.

Msgr. Cartwright paid tribute to McCarthy's "magnificent heart of courage" and predicted his role in the Communists - in - government

Former State GOP Officials On Trial Today

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Four former Republican state officials went on trial today on charges they conspired to force subordinate state employes to contribute to a Republican primary election campaign fund in 1954.

The defendants, first of 15 scheduled for trial in Allegheny County, were Frederick P. Hare, former administrative assistant to former Gov. John S. Fine; Artemas C. Leslie, former state insurance commissioner; Frederick M. Campbell, a Pittsburgh investigator for the state insurance department; and George A. Nally, former Revenue Department controller.

George L. Speed, former head of the Pittsburgh office of the Inheritance Tax Bureau, originally was listed for trial with the four conspiracy defendants. But he was granted a separate trial on the charge that he demanded payment of political contributions.

The four macing trial defendants were indicted following a special grand jury investigation of charges a number of state workers were forced to contribute one per cent of their wages to a campaign kitty in support of Governor Fine in the 1954 May primary.

The trials were delayed in a series of appeals and legal maneuvers and by the death of attorney Charles J. Margiotti, who was the chief defense counsel for a number of the defendants.

James F. Malone, who undertook the investigation of the macing charges while he was Allegheny County district attorney, was one of the witnesses subpenaed for the trial.

Area Distributor Loses His License

The State Liquor Control Board Saturday suspended the distributor's license of Leardo Lusvardi, of Sutersville, for 15 days for the following reasons.

Failed to maintain complete and truthful records, failed to maintain records on the licensed premises, and refused board examiners access to all records.

$100 Fine Assessed

In a hearing before Judge John M. O'Connell, of Westmoreland County, the past weekend, Thomas C. Package, of Fayette City, was fined $100 for violation of the motor code.

Former Doctor On Trial for 'Mercy' Killing

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (UP)—A former Milroy physician, recently released from Harrisburg State Hospital, went on trial in Mifflin County Court today for the "mercy" killing of his foster daughter four years ago.

The defendant, Dr. Samuel L. Woodhouse Jr., 52, was charged with the rifle slaying of Elizabeth L. Woodhouse, 16, on the afternoon of Aug. 6, 1953, while she was asleep in her bedroom.

Police said the physician later worked in the garden of his home, attacked a black cocker spaniel with a hunting knife and treated two patients during the afternoon while the girl lay dead.

Woodhouse, according to authorities, showed no remorse for the killing, he reportedly said he planned for about a year. They quoted him as saying he killed her because she was not well and was unhappy, because he was worried about financial responsibilities, and also planned to take his own life.

Woodhouse was found on the floor by his wife and her mother on their return from Camp Barree in Huntingdon County after the slaying. Police said he had given himself 22 cc's of drugs.

Burglars Get $7,400 From Charleroi Safe

Burglars wielded a heavy sledge hammer to open a giant safe at the Quality Meat Market at 531 Washington Ave., Charleroi, sometime early this morning and escaped with about $7,400 in cash, Charleroi police reported.

John Cash, proprietor, discovered the burglary when he opened the store at 6 o'clock this morning.

Police said entrance was gained by knocking out a panel in a door in the rear of the store. After unlatching the lock, the burglars went straight to the safe located in the basement.

The burglars, police surmised, worked laboriously with the sledge hammer to knock off the tumblers on the safe. The fact that the burglars used the crude sledge hammer method in their operations has caused police to believe the job was the work of amateur safebreakers.

Nothing else in the store was touched, according to reports.

Charleroi, Washington and State police are conducting the investigation.

It was the 13th burglary or robbery in Charleroi and several other communities in Washington County since April 4 of this year. The series started with the burglarizing of the Chaney Cleaning Shop on Washington Ave., Charleroi, on that date. Since then other robberies and burglaries have been committed in Bentleyville, Richeyville and other nearby towns. None of these has been solved, reports show.

Candidates Busy at Clubs Over Weekend

Political oratory flowed like water in Monessen over the weekend as practically every candidate for City offices in the May 21 primary had his bit to say as to what he will do "after I am elected."

It was the busiest pre-election weekend to date as the candidates visited at least 10 clubs to make verbal appeals for votes.

The weekend political whirl started Saturday night at the Polish National Alliance Club on Knox Ave. where the candidates almost outnumbered the audience. The organization permitted each candidate to speak.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente led the City Hall slate of candidates seeking reelection. His opponent for mayor, John R. Stieska, headed the anti-Parente forces.

Make the Rounds

The politicos and their followers really had their work cut out yesterday afternoon and night as they made a whirl-wind tour of the Ukrainian Literary & Beneficial Association, Ukrainian Political & Beneficial Association, Hilltop Social Club, Russian Club and Croatian Hall.

A good many of the candidates also took time out to mingle with the some 1,000 persons who attended the testimonial dinner at Twin Coaches last night for the Rev. Nunzio Pirulli, pastor of the St Cajetan Catholic Church in Monessen.

During the meetings, most of the candidates had routine speeches. This was not the case, however, with Stephen Sinchak, anti-Parente candidate for Council.

In one of his usual fiery talks, Sinchak said that when he is elected everyone in City Hall "will go."

Southeast Asia Trouble Spot, Newsman Says

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (UP)—Frank H. Bartholomew, president of the United Press, said Sunday that "Communist pressure is building up and may blow up in what the Communists consider to be unprepared areas of the world."

He singled out Southeast Asia as a possible troubl spot in which the Soviet Union—checkmated by State Department action in the Middle East—may seek to bring on new upheavals.

Bartholomew, addressing a luncheon meeting of the United Press Editors of West Virginia, said State Department action and "the resultant position of the Western powers in the Middle East, mean that every day gained is a day further from war."

He said Singapore and the federated Malay states are possible areas of future conflict, however.

"Singapore is a strong point at the top of the land bridge leading from Southeast Asia — one of the most densely populated areas of the world—to Australia — one of the most relatively underpopulated with only eight million people in an area the size of the United States," Bartholomew said.

Bartholomew told the editors the United Press in the past 50 years has grown from 369 clients in 1907 to 4,833 in 1957. The United Press observes its 50th anniversary on June 21.

He pointed out that the George Polk Memorial Award of the Overseas Press Club has been won by U.P. correspondents for two consecutive years. The award is based on outstanding reporting requiring exceptional courage and enterprise.

Hope to Halt Allegations of Police Thefts

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—City officials hoped a switch in police chief would produce speedy results in an investigation of allegations that policemen were committing burglaries.

Police Chief Harry Green was fired Saturday by Police Commissioner Henry Boesen for negligence in pressing an investigation into eyewitnesses reports of the police burglaries.

Capt. Carl Heine was appointed to succeed Green at midnight tonight, and his first order of business was to be a thorough investigation of the Police Department.

Meanwhile, six patrolmen refused to take lie tests in connection with the probe. They charged the lie detector machines were "so faulty and inaccurate that the courts all over the country refuse to allow the results."

The furor arose from reports by several citizens who revealed they witnessed uniformed policemen taking merchandise from various business places at night-time.

Auto Mechanics Out on Strike

PITTSBURGH (UP)—About 160 members of Lodge 1060 Automotive Mechanics went on strike against 11 Pittsburgh automobile dealers today in a dispute over wages.

The mechanics voted Sunday to reject an 11-cent an hour wage increase offered by the Allegheny County Automobile Dealers Assn. which represents the dealers.

The mechanics, who earn a top of $2.27 an hour, said they wanted $2.50 an hour, or half the $5 per hour the garages charge for labor.

The firms involved included: Hoebler Chevrolet, Miller Chevrolet, Pankopf Ford, Nething Chevrolet, Hilltop Motors, Mueller Brothers, Murdock Chevrolet, Willis Motors, Sanford Motors, Fisher Motors and Les Ford.

Another Press Car Stopped By State Police

WASHINGTON (UP) — Another press car in President Eisenhower's motorcade was stopped by police Sunday—this time by Pennsylvania state troopers.

The incident occurred while the President was returning to Washington from a weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm home. The officer flagged down the first of eight press cars immediately behind the six White House automobiles at an intersection near the farm.

The press car continued onto Route 15 however, and the trooper got into his own car and joined the procession until it reached the Maryland state line when he caught up with the press car in Maryland and flagged it down.

The reporter occupant, Robert E. Clark of International News Service, reported the trooper said his corporal had instructed him to stop all newsmen when the President's convoy went past.

Clark said the trooper also told him that he would be arrested if he failed to follow police orders in the future.

Cpl C. W. Hamberger, in charge of the Gettysburg State Police barracks, said later there was no intention of preventing press cars from following Mr. Eisenhower.

The incident recalled another several weeks ago when reporters were flagged down just outside of Rockville, Md. for driving too fast while following the Chief Executive.

Miner Dies from Bad Air in Shaft

RANDSBURG, Calif. (UP)— A part-time miner died Sunday night when he apparently was overcome by bad air and fell 150 feet down the shaft of the Black Hawk gold mine.

Rescuers wearing oxygen masks descended into the mine early today to bring up the body of Francis McCormick, 39, the victim. His body landed in a hip-deep pool of water.

McCormick, father of seven children, lived in Randsburg and operated a bulldozer for a living. He worked in the mine only on week ends.

Israel Shows Off Military Might of France

By UNITED PRESS

Israel celebrated its 9th independence day today by disclosing it had received massive supplies of French armor and jet planes that could help swing the balance of power in the Middle East.

At the same time its Navy units maneuvered at Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba in a naval show that emphasized Israel's intention to sail the gulf and which brought words of warning from Jordan.

Israel took the wraps off its French military aid with a parade at Tel Aviv which showed that more than 80 per cent of the Israeli heavy equipment was from France.

Thirty six French-built Mystere jets flashed overhead—more than three times the number Israel ever had acknowledged receiving from France.

Display Captured Tanks

In addition to the French equipment and the disclosure that Israel is moving away from dependence on the United States for military aid, Israel showed off an impressive collection of captured equipment—Russian tanks and guns taken from Egypt in the Sinai Desert.

More than 500,000 Israelis turned out for the parade, but conspicuous by their absence were the diplomatic representatives of Rus-

Continue Probe Of Murder Case

Chief of Police William Urban, of Monongahela, today said authorities are continuing their investigation of the murder of Giuseppe (Joseph) Mancuso.

Mancuso was found strangled to death with a leather belt sometime last Thursday morning.

The 65-year-old shoemaker's body was found in a yard not far from his shop at 123 East Main St., Monongahela.

Urban said there are "no suspects at present."

He is being aided in the investigation by Washington County and State police.

AFL-CIO Group Opens Hearings On Beck, Aides

WASHINGTON (UP) — The AFL-CIO today charged Teamster President Dave Beck and Vice President Frank Brewster with using union funds for "personal purposes" and using their union positions for "personal profit or advantage."

Teamsters Vice President Sydney Brennan of Minneapolis, who has been convicted of accepting money from an employer, was charged with "corrupt activities" by the AFL-CIO.

And the entire Teamsters Union leadership was charged with failing to take action against the three.

The AFL-CIO specifically questioned the Teamster leadership's "apparent failure" to determine for itself whether Beck is in fact guilty of "personal corruption in the handling of union funds and in the conduct of union affairs and invoked the Fifth Amendment . . . to conceal the fact."

Beck was accused by the Senate Rackets Committee of using more than $320,000 in union funds for personal matters, but he resorted to the Fifth Amendment 117 times in refusing to answer the committee's questions about his financial dealings with the union.

The bill of particulars was contained in a 22-page statement presented before the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee as it started its hearing on the question whether the big Teamsters Union is dominated or substantially influenced by "corrupt influence."

The AFL-CIO charges were spelled out after Beck himself accused the parent union in an opening statement of conducting a "medieval inquisition and witch hunt" at the hearing.

Beck, backed up in his statement by other members of the Teamster executive board, denounced the general charge of corruption as "malicious and unfounded slander."

Demands Bill of Particulars

Beck demanded that the committee provide the Teamster leaders a bill of "particulars" as to the charges against the union. He said the board members had come to the hearing "solely" to find out whether they would get a detailed breakdown of the allegations.

It was after he spoke that the committee came up with a 22-page statement detailing the charges.

Beck had said that if the particulars were provided, "we shall then be able to make a statement with respect to our position."

No mention was made of Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit, who was present at the closed hearing. He has been indicted on charges of trying to bribe his way into the files of the Senate Rackets Committee which also has been investigating corruption in the Teamsters Union.

Al Hayes, chairman of the committee, opened the hearings by asserting that it "is not a trial."

Fayette City Man Receives $14,813

A Fayette City man, John E. Muzina, received $14,813 damages in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court the past weekend in connection with injuries resulting from an automobile accident March 8, 1954.

The ruling was against Joseph J. Mazur, of Duquesne.

Supreme Court Orders NLRB to Restudy Case

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that the National Labor Relations Board may not wash its hands of all unfair labor practice charges brought against unions by their own employers.

The high court remanded to the board for further consideration a case involving alleged misconduct by the Teamsters Union against its own office workers.

The majority opinion, written by Justice Tom C. Clark, said the board acted "contrary to the intent of Congress, was arbitrary, and was beyond its power" in declining jurisdiction in the case.

Another question in the case was whether, under federal labor law, unions are "employers" with respect to their own employes. The court was unanimous on this point that they are.

The case arose in 1953 in Portland, Ore., where a group of Teamster organizations was charged with unfair labor practices under the Taft-Hartley law by Local 11 of the Office Employes International Union. The Office Employes Union wanted to be the bargaining agent for some 23 clerical workers in the Teamsters' building.

More Layoffs Are Reported in Fayette County

At least 50 more men in the Fayette County area will be idled today when the Emerald Coal and Coke Co. closes its 400-beehive coke ovens and plant at Allison, near Brownsville.

The plant had employed up to 100 men in recent years, but the payroll had dropped to about 50 men for the past several months.

The firm, however, announced it will continue full-scale operations at its Alicia coke plant, also near Brownsville. There, approximately 100 men now are employed.

Today's closure marks the third such coal operation which has closed or will close in the near future.

April 1, Vesta 4 mine of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. shut down permanently, throwing almost 800 men out of work. Most of the unemployed sull are without jobs.

Next month, United States Steel Corp. will close operations at Palmer mine. About 250 men will become idle as a result.

The coal picture was brightened recently, however, with the announcement that Bobtown's Shannopin mine of J & L will add close to 100 men to the payrolls. A new portal recently was opened at Shannopin, thus increasing mining operations.

Fluoridation Group In Radio Broadcasts

Members of the Monessen Committee for Water Fluoridation will speak nightly at 6:30 this week over Charleroi radio station WESA. The broadcast will emanate from the Manos Theatre here.

Mrs. John McGovern, chairman, also announced today that local Boy Scouts will distribute pro-fluoridation posters in business establishments tomorrow. The posters were made by seventh grade students in Monessen public schools.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. McGovern and Mrs. Joseph M. Dadas, Jr., spoke on fluoridation in a radio broadcast from Charleroi.

Rarick Criticized for Endorsing Candidate

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Donald C. Rarick, who headed an anti-administration drive in February's United Steelworkers election, was the target today of a bitter attack by leaders of the group which supported him.

Rarick, McKeesport, Pa., who failed by nearly a 2-1 margin in his bid to oust David J. McDonald as president of the big union drew the ire of top leaders of his Dues Protest Committee by attempting to throw the group's support to a judicial candidate in the May 21 Republican primary elections.

Rarick chairman of the union group formed to seek rejeal of a $2 a month increase in USW dues, said last Friday the DPC had endorsed Benjamin F. Hazeltine Jr., an assistant district attorney, for a GOP nomination for County Court.

In reply, leaders of three big UW locals which had supported Rarick in the union election issued a statement accusing Rarick of "dictatorship" and declaring they "will not tolerate this attitude.

"We of the Dues Protest Committee did not endorse any candidate," the statement said. "There has been no meeting of the Dues Protest Committee since before the steelworkers election last February."

The disclaimer was signed by Michael J. Krehekey, president, and Carl A. Reabe, past president of local 1219, Braddock, Steve Ellis, past president, and Ken Morrison, Local 1408, McKeesport, and Steve Artrim of the Rankin local.

Highway Death Toll Is High

At Least 11 Killed In State

By UNITED PRESS

Clear, cool spring weather brought ideal driving conditions on most of Pennsylvania's highways during the week end, but the death toll from traffic accidents showed no let up.

Traces to more than a half an inch of snow were reported in scattered areas of Northwestern Pennsylvania early Saturday, but no serious accidents were reported in that district.

Elsewhere in the state, a United Press survey showed, at least 11 persons lost their lives in traffic mishaps. Three Ambler, Pa., High School students, who had just left a rehearsal for their commencement exercises, were killed when the automobile in which they were riding left the highway and wrecked.

The fatalities:

New Castle: Charles L. Cripps, 80, New Castle, died early Sunday of injuries suffered when struck by an automobile while walking along Route 168 near West Pittsburg. The driver of the car was identified by police as Mary Jane Camerot, 26, West Pittsburgh.

McKeesport: Mrs. Mary Flynn, 59, Buena Vista, was killed Sunday when her husband's automobile collided with a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie train at a crossing near Frank. The husband, Paul, 60, and a daughter, Claudia, 16, were injured in the mishap.

Waynesburg: Robert W. Swaniger, 4, Waynesburg, suffered fatal head and internal injuries Sunday when a pickup truck in which he was a passenger crashed into a bridge abutment on U.S. Route 19 near Mt. Morris. Fidler's Swan Song

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP) — Harry Fidler was back in jail today, living proof that (1) thieves always return to the scene of their crimes and (2) life is just a vicious circle. Fidler, free just two days from serving three years for shoplifting in Hill's Department Store, went back to the same store Saturday and was arrested—for shoplifting.

LOOKS TOWARD '58 — Sports clothes and a serious expression are worn by President Eisenhower as he ducks under the wing of his plane at Gettysburg, Pa. In Washington, the Chief Executive launched an all-out drive to win Republican control of Congress in 1958 with a phoned message to the regional conference of GOP chiefs in Salt Lake City.

Israel

sia. Bulgaria, Romania and Czechoslovakia, Russia and Czechoslovakia had supplied Egypt with much of the equipment seen today.

The naval show at Eilat was less impressive—Israel held open house for the two frigates and the several motor torpedo boats with which it hopes to keep the Gulf of Aqaba open should neighboring Arab states try to stop its ships.

Jordan Issues Warning

But it brought this warning From Suleiman Pasha Toukan, Jordan's defense minister and military governor:

"We are ready for them. We are ready for them We have a large number of soldiers there, and the Saudi Arabian army is nearby. If they come we are ready for them."

Egypt meanwhile hailed the results of Syria's parliamentary by-elections as a major victory for the Syrian government and proof that Syria will remain "on Egypt's side" despite Western efforts to break up the "neutralist" Arab bloc.

Left - wing government candidates won the three principal by-elections in voting Saturday and Sunday marked by clashes at the polls—and by great antipathy on part of the voters, especially conservative middle - of - the - road groups.

Truman Scolded For Ike Remark

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former President Truman was on the receiving end of a "give-em-hell" scolding last week from "The Boss"—Mrs. Truman.

He told reporters accompanying him on a walk Sunday that Mrs Truman "gave me hell" for a remark he made Saturday that President Eisenhower spends too much time away from his desk.

The former president was in jovial spirits as he tramped along familiar streets in the nation's capital, including a stroll past the White House — the "prison" as he has called it that he once occupied for seven years.

Veteran State GOP Leaders Take Offices

HARRISBURG (UP)—Two former veteran Republican legislative leaders will take over Pennsylvania's top fiscal offices in inauguration ceremonies today and Tuesday.

Robert F. Kent, 4 Meadville attorney, will be sworn in at noon today as state treasurer. Charles C. Smith, Philadelphia businessman will take office Tuesday as auditor general. The inauguration ceremonies will be held in the chamber of the House of Representatives for the two men who were elected last November.

Kent, who was GOP caucus chairman during the 1955 session, served five successive terms in the House from 1946 through 1955. He succeeds Republican Weldon B. Heyburn as treasurer.

Smith, also 45, will be sworn in as auditor general Tuesday by state Superior Court Judge G Harold Watkins. A 14-year veteran of the House, Smith served as speaker in the 1953 session and Republican floor leader during the long 1955 session. Smith also succeeds a fellow Republican, Charles R. Barber, Erie.

Name Deputies

Kent won office by a vote of 2,347,920 to Democrat James W. Knox's 2,128,002. Smith defeated Democrat Francis R. Smith, 2,364,017 to 2,116,744. The fiscal posts pay $22,500 each annually for a four year term.

Kent named Warner M. Depuy, Milford, as deputy state treasurer. Depuy, also a former House member, is a director of the First National Bank, Milford, also will be sworn in today.

Alfred T. Novello, Philadelphia, was named by Smith as deputy auditor general. Novello was first deputy to Philadelphia City Controller Foster A. Dunlap.

Heyburn leaves the post after more than 20 years on the state scene. He was a senator from 1926 to 1948 when he made a successful bid for the post of auditor general. He was elected treasurer in 1952.

Barber came to the capitol in 1947 as state welfare secretary after serving three terms as mayor of Erie. He was elected state treasurer in 1948 and auditor general in 1952.

Beck

He said the inquiry will be "flexible and informal."

Hayes is president of the Machinists Union. Four other veteran labor leaders serve with him on the ethical practices committee.

He emphasized that the committee has "made no judgment" on the charges against the Teamsters.

Beck Sunday warned other unions against making any plans to organize a rival union to his Teamsters. The statement was aimed specifically at AFL-CIO Vice President Walter Reuther, who has hinted at such a move.

At it's Sunday session here, it drafted a statement sharply attacking Reuther's recent threat to organize a "new, clean" union for truck drivers if the Teamsters are expelled from the AFL-CIO.

Beck Under Indictment

"We shall protect our membership with everything at our command against Reutner or anyone else who attempts to defame us as an international union, by word or by action, or who attempts to break up or interfere with our organization," the Teamster statement said.

Since the council's original charge, Beck has been indicted for income tax violation. Brewster is under indictment for contempt of Congress and Brennan has been convicted of accepting money from an employer.

campaign in recent years "will be more and more honored as history unfolds its record."

"He will take his place among those colleagues of the Hall of Fame, each one of whom is great in memory because at one time or another he had the fortitude to stand alone," Msgr. Cartwright said.

The eulogy was delivered after a Solemn Pontifical Mass of Requiem sung by the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington.

Assisting the black - mitered archbishop was the Rev. William J. Awalt, the young priest who married McCarthy to his pretty widow in the same cathedral in 1953.

The funeral Mass was followed by services in the Senate chamber, the scene of McCarthy's most turbulent battles, his greatest victories and his most heartbreaking defeats—including his condemnation by the Senate in 1954.

It was the first such service in the chamber since rites for the late Sen. William E. Borah in 1940. Any deceased Senator is entitled to services in the Senate, but none have been requested since 1940.

I. Jack Martin, presidential assistant and former assistant to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) attended the Senate services as President Eisenhower's representative.

Steel Must Increase Capacity, Blough Says

HOBOKEN, N.J. (UP)—America's steel industry—in a "grueling" race to keep up with economic expansion—must boost steelmaking capacity some 30 per cent, or 50 million tons by 1975, Roger M Blough, chairman of U S Steel Corp. said today.

He said that for U S Steel to hold its position in the prospective market the world's biggest steelmaker must increase its capacity about one million tons annually.

Blough told the corporation's 56th annual stockholders meeting the steel industry has added more than 41 million tons of capacity since World War II at a cost of $8 billion. U.S. Steel's portion of that spending was 3 billion dollars, he said, and the company at the end of the first quarter this year was committed to spend an additional 775 million dollars.

"Big Steel's" current capacity is about 40 million tons. Total steel capacity is 133 million tons.

Blough told the shareholders the company has experienced "some decline" in demand for certain steel products so far this year but "there is every indication that 1957 will be a good year for steel."

He emphasized the company's biggest problem "is not in coping with temporary drops in the operating rate" but in trying to keep pace with "enormous" demand under the present cost-price squeeze.

He said "in the light of the enormous capital costs which confront the steel industry as a whole, it is clear, I think, that one of the most important roles in steel's tomorrow will be played by the investor."

He stated that the investor's understanding of the need for the reinvestment of profits "and his personal action as a citizen in helping to maintain an economic climate which will lend incentive to further investment" may be factors deciding whether the industry can meet its needs.

Blough said he based his prediction of huge demand for steel in the future mainly on population growth and expansion of purchasing power. "Even a pessimist, I suppose, must concede the probability that 200 million people will need more steel than 170 million," he told the shareholders.

$100 Million Industrial Empire At Stake in Corporate Battle

CRESSON, Pa. (UP)—The second phase of one of the rowdiest corporate battles in years — the skirmish for control of Penn-Texas Corp — comes to a rough and tumble showdown today in this "small" mountain town.

At stake is a 100 million dollar industrial empire, built up in the last six years through acquisitions by its controversial president and chairman, Leopold D. Silberstein. Through these acquisitions Penn-Texas has mushroomed from a run-down coal company to an industrial complex with interests running the gamut from plastics to atomics.

The ally he's hauled to Washington lawyer Alfons Landa, charge that Silberstein has built his empire through "patchwork" financial deals made at the expense of stockholders.

Instead, they say, these deals have resulted in "windfalls" for Silberstein "cronies."

Annual Meeting Today

The matter is to be decided at the Penn-Texas annual meeting held in the office of Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Co., Silberstein's first acquisition.

A Penn-Texas spokesman said the office has been altered so that it "can take care of 200 persons." If there is an overflow crowd, it is expected the meeting will be moved to a school auditorium.

Actually today's showdown meeting is the second part of a double proxy contest of which the first phase was held in Chicago March 27.

At that time Silberstein was an attacker and on the receiving end was the management of Robert H Morse president of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. Silberstein had waged a proxy battle in an attempt to swallow the big Chicago heavy equipment manufacturer. But that fight has not yet been decided. Morse obtained a federal court order to impound the ballots on grounds that Silberstein had obtained some of the shares illegally. Court proceedings on the issue still are pending.

Meantime, while round one was going on, Morse was preparing for round two by throwing both his financial and moral support to the Landa group —the Penn - Texas Stockholders Protective Committee.

Morse Director Candidate

Morse is a committee candidate for one of the eight director slots on Penn-Texas and has given about $180,000 to carry on the proxy war.

Landa has stated that he expects to win two or possibly three seats on the Penn-Texas board. This would not be enough for control. Landa says he is preparing now to wage a proxy fight next year.

Meanwhile, according to certain published reports, Morse and Silberstein are negotiating a settlement of the Fairbanks, Morse tangle. The compromise would be along these lines, say the reports —five seats on the 11 man board for Silberstein, five for Morse and the 11th man a neutral.

Landa says his committee will not be bound by any settlement in the Fairbanks, Morse dispute.

Leader Program Battle

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader was expected to ask Assembly leaders to meet with him again this week to continue negotiations for passage of at least part of his legislative program.

The time element loomed high for the governor because of the announced intention of Republican leaders to wrap up the 1957 session by June 1.

Over the weekend, Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom said his party members are still holding to their plans for an early final adjournment and that all of the bills implementing the 25-point GOP policy program announced recently have been drafted or introduced.

Bloom said the Republican emphasis would be on putting "safeguards around the spending of public money." He said the joint Senate-House Appropriations Committees are preparing to wind up their public hearings on the governor's budget requests and draft appropriation bills to implement their findings.

Areas of Agreement

While Leader and the Republicans appear to be in general agreement on such issues as a Korean War bonus, highway safety, absentee voting and lowering the voting age to 18, the governor appears to face a formidable hurdle in his attempt to initiate an ambitious scholarship program and rip out the present Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission system and replace it with a non-salaried board.

The GOP has expressed opposition to the proposal for granting 5,000 scholarships annually, with the cost to be paid from a penny a bottle soft drink tax. The Republicans were reported to be considering a scholarship program with loans to deserving students or possibly underwriting higher education for a limited number of technical students.

St. Cajetan Pastor Honored at Dinner

About 1,000 persons attended a testimonial dinner last night at Twin Coaches for the Rev. Nunzio Pirulli, pastor of St. Cajetan Catholic Church, Monessen.

During his appreciation address, Father Pirulli traced th record of the parish since he became its first resident priest in 1940. His major accomplishment, he said, was the erection of the present church.

The pastor stated his next objective is to give the parish a new parochial school building. He said when this is done "my dreams will be realized."

The invocation was offered by the Rev. Francis Pirulli, nephew of the honored guest and assistant pastor of St. Rita Church in Connellsville.

The Rev. Leonard Sanesi, assistant pastor of St. Cajetan Church and general chairman, made the introductions and announcements. The Rev. Dominic Oliver, pastor of St. Lucy's Church, New Castle, was toastmaster.

The welcome address was delivered by Mayor Hugo J. Parente and the Rev. Norbert Gaughn, secretary to Bishop Hugh L. Lamb, of Greensburg Diocese, was principal speaker. Benediction was by the Rev. Joseph Saraceno, of St. Anthony Church, Steubenville, Ohio.

Atty. Louis L. Mandarino, of Monessen, was narrator during the presentation of "This Is Your Life, Father Pirulli".

Following a floor show featuring singer Don Cornell, there was dancing to Frankie Barr's orchestra.

Officers of the various church organizations assisted Father Sanesi with arrangements.

Boy Friend of Swedish Princess Won't Give Up

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UP) — Royal disapproval of Swedish Princess Margaretha's London romance has not dulled the ardor of her British boy friend, a Stockholm newspaper reported today.

The palace issued a communique Sunday reporting that Margaretha's mother Princess Sibylla had rejected as 'impossible" the bid of a piano-playing nephew of a British nobleman for her daughter's hand in marriage.

The Briton is Robin Douglas-Home who earns an average of $84 a week by working in an advertising agency by day and playing the piano in the luxurious Berkely Restaurant by night.

The communique is "pure nonsense," the newspaper Stockholm Tidningen quoted Douglas-Home as exclaiming today. "From my side it is far from finished."

Margaretha and Douglas-Home met in London while she was there on an extended vacation—a vacation that apparently ended when her grandfather, King Gustaf Adolf VI, got wind of the romance.

$50,000 Trip To Sweden Is Over for 68

CHICAGO (UP)—Ragnar Benson, wealthy Chicago contractor, returned to his desk today, fresh from a three-week Swedish holiday with 67 friends and relatives.

A chartered airliner bearing Benson and his party arrived at Midway Airport Sunday, ending an 8,000 mile round-trip flight to Benson's native Sweden.

It was the fulfillment of a dream that Benson kept alive ever since he was a $5-a-week bricklayer's apprentice to pay thanks to his homeland to those who helped him in his climb to the presidency of an 80-million-dollar a year construction firm.

Benson was happy to be home and, with a "priceless" silver-inlaid walking stick, led the cheerful group in a rousing rendition of the "Star Spangled Banner" as the sun shone brightly on the Midway airstrip.

Benson and his traveling companions then bowed their heads in prayer of Thanksgiving for their safe return home, led by the Rev. Theodore Palmer of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Benson footed all the bills for the trip, which he figured cost him about $50,000. But he shrugged it off for he had been repaid by a reunion with his brothers and sister, an audience with Swedish King Gustaf Adolf VI, and a gift from his family of his father's silver-inlaid walking stick.

"It was the most wonderful trip a man could dream of," Benson said. "It was a lifelong ambition fulfilled."

Mystery Blasts Investigated in Shenandoah Area

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (UP) — Three mysterious dynamite explosions which damaged an automobile, a warehouse and an unoccupied house were under investigation today by State and local authorities.

The separate blasts were felt over a wide area and several windows were shattered in homes located near the wrecked auto. Police said they believed the explosions were the work of vandals who stole more than 200 sticks of dynamite from a mining operation here two weeks ago.

The rear of an auto owned by Michael Cohat, 24, of nearby William Penn, was wrecked by the first blast. Cohat and a girl friend were in a movie theater at the time. Police said the explosives apparently were tied to the back bumper of the car.

The second blast occurred at a rag processing warehouse owned by Milton Sorin. The dynamite, hurled through a window, landed between two huge bales of rags which cushioned the blast.

The third explosion, which occurred early Sunday, blew out a wall of a newly constructed two and one-half story frame home located on a mountaintop two miles north of here. The house is owned by Molly Wolsky, a retired taxi driver.

Police said they believed the explosions were the work of one person or a gang.

Group Honors The Victims of Hindenburg Fire

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—A group of aging men gather today in Frankfurt's main cemetery to lay a wreath in memory of victims of the Hindenburg disaster and an era in the history of flight they hope will come again.

It was 20 years ago today the majestic silver airship circled into a mooring mast at Lakehurst, N.J., after a three-day trip from Frankfurt and crumpled into a blazing heap that became a funeral pyre for 36 passengers and crewmen—and for the age of dirigibles.

Eight survivors of the crash were here for today's ceremony, including Flight Capt. Ernst Lehman and Capt. Max Pruss. They met Sunday night with their friends to talk of the days of Germany's great Zeppelin fleet and to bolster their hopes that some day the silver giants again will float through the skies of the world.

Captured Priest Gives Support to Turncoats

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A Roman Catholic priest, who suffered six years of torture in Communist Chinese prisons, has denounced those who condemned the "turncoat soldiers" of the Korean war.

Father Fulgence Gross, who was released from a Communist prison in Shanghai on March 28, arrived here Saturday en route to his home in Omaha, Neb.

"I do not have much use for those people who condemn these men . . . who sentence them," he said. "Let them go to China for three months, imprisoned under the same circumstances and then let us see what would happen."

The 53-year-old priest, still nervous and admittedly "not trusting" any of the newsmen who questioned him, gave a detailed account of his six years in various Chinese prisons.

He was arrested for "spying" on the Communists in Tsingtao after Red troops had vainly turned his home upside down in search of a radio transmitter.

"The first 10 days of my arrest were nothing but torture and beatings," Father Gross said. "They took me to a lonely cell in a basement where they beat me with sticks and straps—where they really gave me the works."

"Finally," he said, "I confessed that I was a spy. Imagine . . . a spy."

After 10 days, Father Gross said the Communists took him before a peoples' court where they decided he should die—"slowly, not wasting a bullet." He faced trial 250 times, and finally the sentence was reduced to six years in prison.

"I prayed on the QT," the graying priest said, spreading his arms, "in a cell that was this wide. I never appreciated my religion so much as those years I spent in prison. It truly was faith that kept me going."

Mr. Wilson's 'Pain'

THE UTTER CANDOR of Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson continues to make him one of the most refreshing, interesting — and valuable — personalities on the Washington scene.

The latest folks to have the benefit of Secretary Wilson's illuminating observations are the leaders of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, who have been especially active of late in opposing President Eisenhower's budget, including the defense appropriations.

"My friends in the Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. Wilson, "represent some of the richest people in the country. They have never been so prosperous. For them to squawk about it (the budget) — that gives me a pain."

It gives us a pain, too. Some of the nation's business leaders spent 20 years yammering at the Democratic administrations of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman and calling for a Republican administration.

They finally got it — in the only way it could possibly have come in these times, by the leadership of a man whose record and personality put him above party politics.

The American people did not elect President Eisenhower to have him turn back the clock. On the contrary, Mr. Eisenhower firmly pledged himself to progressive policies, and his overwhelming reelection last year was a clear endorsement of his course of action.

The Eisenhower budget is as high as it is mainly because of the cold war with Soviet Communism. And the President simply refuses to cut the defense and mutual security funds which are the basis of our national strength.

It is time the leaders of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce were facing the facts of life — of our national political life and of the struggle with Communism. There is no conceivable chance that we can have another William McKinley as President in this generation. And if anyone can suggest a man who fits these times better than Mr. Eisenhower, we'd like to hear his name.

The Mayor's Movie

THE NEWS that Mayor Hugo Parente and his City Hall slate plan to use moving pictures in their campaign in lieu of political speeches makes us wonder whether run-of-mine editorial writers are going to be qualified to observe and comment on this campaign. Maybe we're going to have to hire a movie critic to fill this space.

The Mayor is producing a film to be titled, "The Monessen Story". And from the advance publicity, we gather it is intended to be a non-political portrayal of this city's development along many lines during the 11 years that Mr. Parente has headed the municipal government.

The film, we understand, is to be shown at political rallies to be staged by the Mayor's slate and will take the place of the traditional speeches.

We don't like to pre-judge this new technique, and we have no doubt that the film will attract a good deal of interest. We're anxious to see it ourselves.

But while we have heard enough political oratory to last most men a lifetime, we're inclined to doubt that it can be eliminated without subtracting something essential from the electoral process. A candidate for public office has some obligation, it seems to us, to tell the people what he is going to do if they elect him. And if he can do this in his own words while he is looking some citizens in the eyes, so much the better.

But on with the show!

Pitt's Ceremonies

THE UNIVERSITY of Pittsburgh this week is inaugurating its new Chancellor, Edward H. Litchfield, in the colorful ceremonies traditional to that event.

All the signs indicate that the University is on the threshold of a great expansion, both physical and academic. Dr. Litchfield has indicated that the plans include efforts to make Pitt something other than a provincial big-city commuter school.

Everybody in Western Pennsylvania will wish Dr. Litchfield and Pitt every success. If all the plans materialize, this area will benefit in countless ways.

Secret Memo On Missiles Is Revealed

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Charley Wilson and I had a friendly argument some time ago about the famed Nickerson memorandum on guided missiles, which he won.

Mr. Pearson

The Pentagon had confiscated this secret memo when we showed it to a public relations official for guidance on what could be published without harming the national security and I suggested to Secretary Wilson that confiscation of such a document when a newspaperman was trying to cooperate with the Defense Department was contrary to three decades of established precedent. But he overruled me.

However after some delay and considerable effort, we have now secured another copy of the secret memo and will publish certain portions of it. Some parts will be withheld from publication for security reasons.

It will be obvious to the public as they read this document that its main burden pertains to a battle between big business — General Motors and Chrysler — over who shall build the guided missile. And it's a battle between lobbyists. This is something the public has a right to know about.

Although Col. John Nickerson, a top officer at the Army's ballistic missile base at Huntsville, Ala., has been ordered court-martialed for writing this secret memo, his name is not on it. I have never met Col. Nickerson and had no way of knowing, when Jack Anderson of my staff took the memo to the Defense Department, that Nickerson was involved.

Radford — "Enemy of Army"

His memo involves Wilson's decision to concentrate guided-missile development in the Air Force, shutting down all work done by the Army. It also involves the most important potential weapon of modern warfare, the intercontinental ballistic missile, capable of reaching Moscow in 30 minutes carrying a hydrogen bomb.

While the secret memo is long, it is highly important. The first installment minus certain deletions, follows: "Section 1. Introduction.

"On 26 November 1956, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson published a 'Memorandum for: "Members of the Armed Forces Policy Council." Subject: Clarification of roles and missions to improve the effectiveness of operation of the Department of Defense.'

"With respect to the IRBM (intermediate range ballistic missile) the background is as follows: The President's Scientific Advisory Group, ODM, early in 1955 recommended that a 1500-mile ballistic missile be developed. The Army, Navy and Air Force expressed operational requirements for the missile and authority to develop it. Mr. Wilson referred the operational requirements to the Joint Chiefs of Staff for resolution.

"By the fall of 1955 the JCS were still unable to agree. The Air Force and Navy agreed to each other's requirement but not to the Army's. Admiral Radford, chairman of the JCS forwarded the views of the chiefs to Mr. Wilson with his recommendations which coincided with those of the Air Force and Navy.

"Mr. Wilson's basic operating procedure apparently is to listen to the man responsible and follow his advice. For military decision he listens primarily to Admiral Radford. It appears that Admiral Radford is a rather bitter enemy of the U. S. Army and has made a long series of recommendations to Mr. Wilson which are hostile to legitimate Army interests.

German Scientist

"The Army at Redstone Arsenal has the best ballistic missile team in the country and has succeeded in convincing defense officials of this fact. The Army offered the services of this development team under the famous Dr. von Braun to both the Navy and the Air Force and stated that a single missile would be developed which could satisfy both the land and sea-based requirements.

"Mr. Wilson then overruled Admiral Radford and established two IRBM programs. IRBM No. 1 (later named Thor) was to be developed by the Air Force. IRBM No. 2 (later named Jupiter) was to be developed by the Army to meet both land and sea-based requirement.

"This clearly meant that the Army operational requirement for such a missile was officially recognized. The Army established the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal near Huntsville, Alabama, to execute the task.

"Prior to assignment to the Secretary of Defense for guided missiles, Dr. Eger Murphree determined a few months ago that the Jupiter development was superior to Thor, and was tendering a recommendation to discontinue the Thor missile.

"The action was discontinued when the Secretary of the Air Force objected in bringing the recommendation before the JCS for the second time. Additional [illegible] along the same lines as a year earlier."

Can the Budget Be Cut?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Question — "Your columns on the President's $72,800,000,000 budget leave me with the impression that you favor large federal spending and don't want to see any cutting done at all. Is this a correct impression and, if not, what do you really think?"

Mr. Drummond

Answer — The primary purpose of what I have written on this subject has been to help keep public discussion focused on the facts, rather than on misconceptions and to keep the facts in perspective. If we can keep the facts straight public opinion will take care of itself.

However, I am perfectly willing to answer this question directly and explicitly.

I want to see federal spending radically reduced and I think that everyone who knows the President realizes that he does, too.

I want to see the federal budget cut a good $25,000,000,000 — cut to a level which we can live with and still meet our national needs on a long-term basis.

Strength Essential

I am convinced that we can achieve a significant and substantial cut in the budget only when we achieve such a position of strength and stability in the free world that the Soviet Union will have to call off or cut back the cold war.

There is every evidence that the budget-cutters in Congress have a meat-axe in their hands, not a scalpel. The over-riding danger is that they will hack out of the President's budget those things which can do most to secure the peace and make possible a real and enduring reduction of spending in the future.

I think that Mr. Eisenhower ought to take a second, third and fourth look for every possible way of squeezing every penny, nickel, dime, dollar and million dollars of fat out of the federal budget — and that is exactly what he is doing.

This administration in our judgment, isn't spending a dollar of the taxpayers' money because it thinks spending is fun. It is economy-minded but it can't get away from the fact that the B-29 bomber of World War II cost $693,000, the B-36 bomber of 1950 cost $3,700,000, and that the B-52 bomber of 1957 costs $8,000,000, that the best U. S. fighter plane of 1950 cost $300,000, while today it costs $1,500,000; and that all the new naval craft have doubled in cost since 1950 and are 65 per cent more expensive today than they were two years ago.

The most misleading cliche in the present Battle of the Budget, as I see it, is the contention that this is the biggest peacetime budget in history.

Not at Peace

This is wrong on two counts. The over-riding truth is that we are not at peace, we are at war with international Communism in order to prevent the Soviet Union and Red China from gobbling up the free world.

Secondly, in terms of the purchasing power of the dollar, the present federal budget has not increased at all and is lower than in numerous other years.

The conservative McGraw-Hill business magazine economists state that the present budget puts no more of a strain on the nation's economy than any budget for the last six years, because of the growth of the economy.

The President has suggested to Congress reductions and deferments in federal spending which would cut the budget about $1,800,000,000. Fine. Let's do it.

Some Cuts Short-sighted

But what I think is perilous and horribly short-sighted is to cut out of the budget those things which are directed to building the peace — mutual security and economic assistance — because if we do that we will be losing all chance of bringing the budget down to a long-term livable level.

What sense is there in grasping at a cut of $2,000,000,000 now and thereby striking from the President's hands the essential means to build the peace where it most needs to be built — in the new and under-developed nations which are the prey of Soviet threats and enticement?

Let's not toy with peace and security and let's now throw away the chance of reducing the budget a good $25,000,000,000 by throwing away the things which will help make that possible.

Democrats Differ on Eisenhower Budget

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democratic leaders outside of Congress sound much less concerned with demands to cut President Eisenhower's budget than do Democrats in Congress who have the hot breaths of the voters on their necks.

Mr. Lahr

This was one inference to be drawn from what was heard at the week-end series of meetings and conferences attended by Democrats from throughout the country.

There was complete agreement among Democrats in and out of Congress that the administration is floundering in its maybe-it-is, maybe-it-isn't-too-big attitude toward the budget.

Truman Speaks Up

When former President Truman spoke of the 72 billion dollar Eisenhower budget, he invited the Democratic majority in Congress "to tear the thing to pieces." But he also said:

"Our national economy is strong enough to support a budget of the size recommended by the President if that is what it takes to do the job, and all this talk about it bringing on a depression that will curl your hair is just plain nonsense."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, a prospective candidate for the 1960 presidential nomination, said Democrats keeping faith with their platform will not "cooperate with Republican reactionaries to meat-ax the Eisenhower budget."

Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential nominee, included similar remarks in his prepared text for Saturday's night's $100-a-plate dinner although he did not deliver them. However he did not repudiate this statement:

Sees Tax Reduction

"... If the Democratic Party, which has stood so brilliantly in our time for the constructive use of government to promote the general welfare, now tries to out-Republican the Republicans on the issue of budget-cutting, it is going to be hard to take us seriously again as the party of the people."

These comments came after House Speaker Sam Rayburn had told a breakfast for visiting Democrats that Congress would cut three to five billion dollars from the administration budget and clear the way for tax reduction.

Rayburn's was the voice of the Democrats in Congress and it differed from the emphasis given by such men as Truman, Stevenson and Williams. The difference suggested that the liberal wing of the party still wants to put achievement of its projection of New Deal policies ahead of a lower budget.

Behind The News–

Celebration of Marshall Plan Being Argued

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Eisenhower administration is having trouble for a second time on how to handle the anniversary of an important foreign policy achievement initiated by Democrats.

On Feb. 16, former President Truman turned the administration down cold on its suggestion he go to Greece and Turkey to participate in 10th anniversary ceremonies on the Truman aid doctrine.

Truman said other engagements prevented him from accepting the invitation and, by implication, chided the State Department for delaying the bid until it was too late for him to accept.

Word is leaking out now that the department recently gave a cool reaction to a suggestion that ceremonies be held here and in Europe on June 5 on the 10th anniversary of another Truman administration program — the Marshall Plan.

Outlines Plan

The Marshall Plan was outlined by former Secretary of State George C. Marshall on June 5, 1947, in a commencement address at Harvard University. The plan and its accompanying billions of American dollars in aid are generally credited with giving Western Europe new economic and political stability in the years following World War II.

Not long ago, William C. Foster, the second chief of the Marshall Plan, was picked by a group of "Marshall Plan alumni" to organize an anniversary celebration here and in Europe.

Foster contacted Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter. As a member of the House of Representatives, Herter had helped get the Marshall Plan rolling in Congress in 1947.

There is a difference of opinion as to what happened next. Those planning the celebration say Herter was first enthusiastic, but later reported back that the administration felt a big celebration would not be a good idea.

Never Enthusiastic

A State Department spokesman says Herter never was enthusiastic about the idea and contended such a ceremony would make it appear that the United States was boasting about its achievements in helping Europe.

"Herter felt it would be better if those interested could get prominent people from Marshall Plan countries to report their views on the plan," a spokesman said. "This, however, never came off."

Herter also informed the "alumni" group that he had a long-standing date in Boston on June 5, and wouldn't be able to participate in any ceremonies. There was no suggestion that any other administration official would be available as a substitute.

The word from the Marshall Plan "alumni" group is that "nothing definite" has been worked out in the way of a strictly non-government anniversary observation.

'Crusaders' Against Fluoridation Hit

To the Editor

It is unfortunate that every advance in public health brings to light a group of crusaders who are determined to save the public from the imaginary dangers of the new public health procedure. Even today, in spite of the many years' experience with chlorination of water supplies and pasteurization of milk, and in spite of the innumerable lives that have been saved and the tremendous improvement in public health resulting from these procedures, there are still some individuals trying to save the public from the "hazards" of chlorination and pasteurization.

Today, with the widespread interest in fluoridation and the dental benefits which it has been shown to provide, a flock of so-called "experts" can be found who are opposing fluoridation just as vigorously as chlorination was opposed 30 years ago by the same type of individual. Since scientific fact has a way of eventually penetrating the barriers of confusion and misinformation, there need be no concern for the ultimate acceptance of fluoridation.

We have investigated statements both pro and con relating to fluoridation and we have weighed the information from reputable health agencies and information received through the mail, used by the Committee Investigating Fluoridation.

Sources Given

The following are just a few of the reliable sources through which information was obtained: Digest of Opinions on Fluoridation compiled by the Health League of Canada; Science vs. Fanaticism, by Claire Danziner, of Chicago; Sholom Pearlman, DDS, MS., Chicago, A. P. Black, Ph D., Gainsville, Florida; Chronic Illness Newsletter, J. Roy Doty, Ph.D., Chicago; O. E. Jelinek and J. R. Blayney, Evanston Dental Carry Study; National Academy of Sciences; House of Representatives, Federal Security Agency and American Medical Association.

Which of the following groups is more likely to have reliable information regarding the effectiveness and safety of fluoridation:

(1) Professional organizations in the health field, including the National Research Council, the American Public Health Association and other similar groups, or

(2) "Food faddists", purveyors of so-called health foods, publicity seekers and writers of "sensation" articles.

We are convinced of the safety and health benefits of fluoridation and if the Committee Investigating Fluoridation is sincere, they will thoroughly and conscientiously study the material which we have asked the American Dental Association to send to them.

Plan Testimonial for Townsend

Sports fans in West Newton plan a testimonial banquet on June 4 for retiring basketball coach Steward Townsend. Sparking the affair are Dr. Rufus Goehring, Police Chief Eugene Letterio and Sam Libbos . . . Incidentally all of Towney's Monessen friends are invited to attend. "We hope to have a nice turnout from Monessen," says Dr. Goehring. It was Townsend who organized Monessen High's first basketball team back in 1915 . . . Dan (Boots) Salotti and Peter (Bud) Roman, the city's well-known basketball officiating twosome, have been nominated as president and vice-president, respectively, of the Lions Club.

Four Pirate games will be televised later this month. The game at Milwaukee on May 18 will be carried over the magic screen. So will the tussles at Cincinnati on May 19: and at Philadelphia on May 25 and 26 . . . Jim Baker returned to the Monessen High tennis team just in time. The junior hot-shot had originally decided to give up tennis in favor of baseball. However he reconsidered in time to help the Hounds to a close 3-2 win over California recently . . . Incidentally Baker and Joe Kurey give the Hounds one of the best doubles combinations in the WPIAL. And both youngsters still have another year of high school!

Michelosen Now Fine Speaker

Pitt football coach John Michelosen has really developed into quite a speaker. The former Ambridge standout was inclined to be somewhat dour during his days with the Steelers. However he's all charm now. Along with smiling Jack Wiley, he is really selling Pitt to district athletes. Don't be surprised if most of the WPIAL standouts wind up as Panthers in the future . . . Bob Elliott, former Pirate third baseman, is currently managing the San Diego team in the Pacific Coast League . . . Whitey Prah, former football and wrestling star at Uniontown High School, was recently named "Man of the Week" with the military police detachment at West Point.

New Eagle's homeless baseballers have turned up a diamond after all. They plan to develop the old race track site in Monongahela's Park Avenue district. That spot played host to some exciting races back in the twenties and thirties . . . Arnold Palmer, the gifted golfing pro from Latrobe, is the only person to win the PIAA title two straight years. As a schoolboy, Palmer turned the trick in 1946 and 1947 . . . Dick Buerger, former football quarterback at Uniontown, is now quite a golfer with the Allegheny College team.

Penn State Prices Going Up

Football ticket prices are going up at Penn State. Beginning next season, game tickets will be increased from $3.50 to $4. A season ticket for four home games will sell for $15 . . . Apparently it costs more to keep footballers in school these days . . . No less than 231 boys registered for the Monongahela Little League the other day. That's a record response . . . Say what you may, we're still in Bobby Bragan's corner. The Pirate manager isn't afraid to experiment. Certainly he's making some mistakes. But the guy is in there pitching. Once he gets a pennant team, he'll know what to do with it. Until then, what's the difference?

Fans Will Remember 1957 Derby Loser

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — There's a new legend today to be woven into the storied tapestry of the Kentucky Derby.

It won't show in the precise pages of the record book. But this one will be remembered as the "dream derby"—a race lost by a turf tragedian named Willie Shoemaker instead of one which was won by a colt named Iron Liege.

And to the sad little man known as "Willie the Shoe" it must remain a nightmare.

"I dreamt I was in marble halls"

Had Those Dreams

Willie had those kind of dreams thundering down the stretch at Churchill Downs on Saturday as him, the colt named Gallant Man surged forward to collar Iron Liege and the jubilant Willie Wright he was first across the wire. He was standing in the stirrups starting to pull up when the disaster struck.

Because the finish line still was yards away and before he could get back to his horse the winning Iron Liege had shattered fame and fortune from Willie by a sleeping whisper.

"I had a dream which was not all a dream." Byron wrote. It was a dream derby and one has merciless meaning for Ralph Lowe, the owner of Gallant Man.

Lowe Had A Dream

The night last week Lowe dreamed that Willie misjudged the finish line and thus lost the race. Shoemaker was told about the somnolent signal which was so real it, "was not all a dream." For Lowe saw his nightmare vision all over again in the cold afternoon light on Saturday.

"I know the years exile us in dreams."

Imagine the memories which came to a white-haired man of 80 on Saturday as he sat before a television screen and watched and listened as younger men described the Rose Run. Clem McCarthy three decades ago stood in front of the microphone and called the Derby as the mighty Reigh Count banged down in front.

Now he had only his dreams of naked days and a few hours later even those were being threatened. Riding home in a friend's automobile he was seriously injured when the car hit a light pole.

Monessen Sports Teams Play Today

Ozarks to Open at Donora

1957 MVL Play Begins Tonight

The Monessen Ozarks will go to Donora today to open the 1957 Mon Valley League baseball season.

Manager Pappy Johnson will probably call on his mound ace, Bill Mitnick, to get his club off to a fast start.

For the first time in four years the city will have only one entry in the MVL. The USW nine which finished second last season, has not renewed its franchise.

As a result, the Ozarks appear much stronger this season than they did a year ago.

Johnson was not certain of his starting lineup. He indicated that he will rely heavily on the advice of co-captain Mitnick and Bob Mastracci in any strategy moves.

Triumverate

Thus the current Ozark edition will be piloted by a sort of triumverate.

Included on the Ozark rosters are established sandlot stars like Neil Hill, Fuzzy Anderson, Rich Zuraw, Ron Danko, M Chickovich and Bruce Pezzelle.

Other players included Tom Rotheram, Al Trozzo, Ron Campbell and John Smith.

Johnson also hopes to have a few other boys signed in time for tonight's tussle.

Donora this season will be managed by Harry Sickels the veteran pilot who led the old Monongahela nine to so many valley titles.

Loaded with Talent

The Zinc Towners have loaded up with talent and they have high hopes of kicking up a real fuss in the race this season.

In another MVL game today West Newton will appear at Perrypolis. Tomorrow, New Eagle will go to Charleroi.

A full card is on tap Wednesday when the Ozarks will open at home to Van Voorhis. Other games will send Donora to Fayette City, New Eagle to Perrypolis and Charleroi to West Newton.

North Captures Bowling Title

North won three of five games from the West over the weekend to capture the Ball and Chain Bowling League title.

Scoring leaders for the winners were John Harrison, 223-79 Jack Foster, 207-749 and Arlene Echart 133-584. For the losers Ray Echart led the way with a 234-874 while Josephine Swansick had a 148-636.

The new champs will be honored at the annual league banquet in the Ankara on May 30.

High average man for the year was Ray Echart with 169. Top lady bowler was Jean DeGregorio with a 135 average.

Pirates Lose Two to Cincinnati, 6-2, 7-3

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Chicago Cubs are willing to "give" something to the Pittsburgh Pirates when they open a two-game series Tuesday at Forbes Field but the Pirates won't be willing takers.

The Cubs would be happy to surrender their National League cellar standing. The Pirates are in seventh place, a half game ahead of the Cubs.

The Pirates dropped both ends of a Sunday doubleheader to the Cincinnati Redlegs, 6-2 and 7-3. The Cubs fared a little better by splitting a twin-bill with the New York Giants. The first game victory for the Cubs snapped a nine-game losing streak.

Both winning pitchers went the distance for the Redlegs, while the Pirates sent a total of 11 hurlers to the mound in both games. The Redlegs racked up 11 hits in the opener and followed with 10 in the nightcap. The Pirates were held to six hits by Brooks Lawrence in the first game and touched Don Gross for nine safeties, including five doubles and a home run.

Gus Bell and Roy McMillan each drove in a pair of tallies in the nightcap. Bell opened the fifth inning with his second homer of the year and drove in Wally Post with a sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Errors by Gene Baker, newly acquired Pirate infielder, in the third and seventh innings cleared the way for other Redlegs runs. Hank Foiles homered with none on in the ninth for the Pirates and scored in the seventh after he and Gene Freese doubled. The Pirates picked up their first run in the third with Baker's double and Dick Groat's single. The Redlegs tallied twice in the second and again in the seventh.

Lawrence committed three errors, two of them in succession in the sixth inning to give the Pirates a run. Roberto Clemente led off in the second for the Pirates with his first homer of the year.

Frank Robinson's three - run homer in the fifth highlighted the Redlegs' attack. He was injured in the sixth inning of the second game when he crashed into the left field wall while attempting to field Frank Thomas' double.

Brown Sets Mark At Westminster

Felton Brown, Jr., is off to a blazing start with the Westminster College track team.

The freshman sensation from Monessen set a new 220 yard Westminster college record by covering the distance in 21.9 in a dual meet with Carnegie Tech on Saturday.

Earlier this season, Brown set a 100 yard dash mark at historic College Field in Washington by sprinting home in 9.8 seconds.

Brown also won the 100 yard event on Saturday, stepping it off in 10.2 against a strong wind.

Sports News In Brief

8 PARIS (UP) — Mervyn Rose of Australia won the men's singles title Sunday at the Paris tennis tournament by defeating Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris, 7-5, 6-3, 7-5. Jacqueline Kermina of France defeated Maud Galtier of France in the women's final, 6-1, 3-6, 8-6.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UP) — Boxer Jimmy Elliott's first knockout of his career resulted in his death. The South African middleweight died Sunday in a local hospital of a brain injury suffered in a title bout with Pat McAteer of England, British Empire middleweight champion, Saturday night. Elliott, 26 years old and the father of two sons, was floored by a hard left to the head in the sixth round.

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Shortstop John Kennedy, the first Negro to play for the Philadelphia Phillies, has been optioned to High Point - Thomasville of the Class B Carolina League.

Hoad Favored In Net Tourney

ROME, Italy (UP)—The Italian tennis championships begin today with Lew Hoad top-seeded but with a bevy of other Australians and Budge Patty of Los Angeles rated stronger chances in the men's singles.

Hoad is seeded first among 54 men from 12 countries because he won the title last year and is considered the world's top amateur.

Thirty-six women from 10 countries will bid for the women's singles crown won last year by Althea Gibson of New York. Miss Gibson is not defending the Italian title.

Greyhound Netters Welcome California; MHS Nine at Donora

Monessen High's baseball and tennis teams will be in action today. Contrasting results are anticipated.

Coach Antoniette Valentine's MHS netters should win in their match with Monongahela at City Park. Activity will begin at 3 p. m.

The Greyhound tennis team has won three starts this season and is currently atop the Section 4 standings. Earlier Monessen handled Monongahela, 5-0.

In view of that easy conquest, the Hounds figure to breeze home again.

Another Section 4 tennis clash today will send Charleroi to second place California.

On the baseball front, Monessen appears at Donora in a Section 17 clash. Here the Hounds will probably come out on the short end.

Donora battered the Monessen boys, 11-4, earlier in the season.

May Avoid Cellar

Coach John Hayduk's youngsters have a reason for going all-out this afternoon. A win will probably get them out of the league cellar.

Other Section 17 tussles will send Bellmar to Charleroi and California to Monongahela.

Attention will center on the Charleroi-Bellmar game. The defending champion Cougars have yet to lose in six starts. They need only two wins in their remaining four assignments to wrap up baseball laurels again.

The Monessen High track team will wind up its regular season tomorrow in a triangular meet at Uniontown. The other entry will be German Twp.

Williams Hit By Pitched Ball

CLEVELAND (UP)—If it's not one thing with Ted Williams, it's another.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder was hit by a pitch on the right forearm during the fourth inning of Sunday's opening game against the Indians and had to retire from the contest.

X-rays taken of Williams' arm at University Hospital disclosed no break or fracture.

GO AHEAD! PASS IT! NOBODY'S WATCHING.

But note this: nearly 42,000 men, women and children will die in traffic accidents this year, if the present rate continues—wiped out by stop-sign passers, traffic-light beaters, speeders and other potential murderers.

What is it that makes us believe so strongly that accidents happen only to the next fellow—never to us?

No one expects to meet sudden death on the road—and surely no one expects to cause it.

But this year alone, according to the present mounting rate, nearly 42,000 people will die in traffic accidents—each of them certain it couldn't happen to him.

And thousands of drivers will wind up with the brutal knowledge that they killed someone on the street or highway.

You save about 10 seconds if you don't stop at a stop-sign. What can you do with those 10 seconds when you pause to think about it?

Traffic deaths can be halted if everyone does just this:

FIRST—Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs.

Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!

SECOND—Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you.

Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

In city after city, day after day, it's been proved over and over again—

WHERE TRAFFIC LAWS ARE OBEYED – DEATHS GO DOWN!

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Line of Flight

You might be surprised at the number of times you think you are aiming the shot properly when actually you are not. Some players seem to think that, because they are LOOKING at the hole, they are aiming the shot at the hole. It ain't necessarily so.

To line up the shot properly, check on your feet, hips, and shoulders. Also, check the alignment of your clubface. A line drawn from your right toe to your left and continuing straight should point the objective. The left hip should be pointing on a line parallel with and running slightly to the left of, the intended line of flight. The left shoulder, if you are properly lined up, will point slightly to the left of the target.

The clubface should be square with the intended line of flight. Don't make the mistake of just toeing it in or out to make it square, while retaining the same grip. Make the proper clubface adjustment, then regrip.

This aiming advice is based on the assumption that you mean to hit the ball straight. If you are allowing for a slice or hook, the adjustments naturally change. But careful aiming is advisable on all shots.

Explains Jacket 'Confiscation'

Rostraver Principal Tells Why

Rostraver Junior High athletes were asked to return their jackets last Friday to "protect their eligibility in interscholastic sports."

James O. Leeper, Rostraver Junior High principal, offered that explanation today.

"I regret this as much as any one," said Leeper. "I've tried to explain it to the boys. It seems we made a mistake in permitting these awards and we are now trying to correct it."

Leeper said the jackets have been stored away in a safe at the school. He did not know what was to become of them.

The jackets were "confiscated" from 32 Junior High athletes on Friday, touching off rumbles of protest. ome parents even threatened to take the matter to court.

No Jackets

Twenty-one of the boys had to return home in chilly temperatures on Friday without their jackets.

Leeper explained that the jackets were collected in compliance with a Junior WPIAL suggestion.

Today, Leo Simms, secretary of the Junior WPIAL, said that a decision had been reached on the case and mailed to E. F. Carter, superintendent of Rostraver schools.

"I have telephoned the decision to Mr. Carter, but I feel the school should receive it in writing before it is released to the press," said Simms.

Both Simms and Albert Ferrara, junior high principal at Donora and vice-president of the Junior WPIAL, made it plain that they had received no protest from a rival school.

Cooperate Fully

"We acted on a request from Rostraver that the matter be clarified," said Ferrara. "Rostraver officials have cooperated fully with us in this matter."

The jackets were given to the Rostraver athletes more than a month ago. Most of the money for the awards was raised by the boys themselves, who sold pencils and other items.

However PIAA rules specifically state that a junior high pupil "who accepts from any source" a jacket shall be ineligible for any interscholastic athletic competition.

Ferrara disclosed that the Junior WPIAL contacted Mark Funk, executive secretary of the PIAA, for a clarification and he reported that the Rostraver boys were in jeopardy of losing their eligibility because of the awards.

The practice of awarding jackets to Junior High athletes is not uncommon in the district. Many schoolmen have been under the impression that such awards were legal if not made directly by the school itself.

Chain Reaction

Ferrara conceded that the Rostraver case may set off a "chain reaction."

"I understand several other schools have been guilty of the same thing. However the Junior WPIAL will not act unless protests are filed or unless the schools themselves request rulings."

At Rostraver, Leeper said he was aware of other violations but was not interested in "implicating other schools."

"You might say we were interested only in cleaning our own house," said Leeper.

Reportedly the issue was raised by individuals within the school system who objected to the awards.

The Detroit police department was believed to be the first to install radios in patrol cars.

Foreign Driver Enters Race at Cumberland

The first foreign entry has been received for the Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races to be held on May 17, 18 and 19 in Cumberland, Md.

He is 24-year-old Thomas R. Gilman of Toronto, Canada. Gilman will bring to Cumberland a Lotus Mark IX which will be tested here for the first time in racing competition. Originally built for the Earls Court Motor Show in London, this Lotus is the only car of its type in Canada. Heretofore, it has been used by the factory in England as a show model.

A Cooper-Climax that was second in its class in the French Grand Prix at Le Mans last year is also entered. Behind the wheel will be Thomas Hallock of Grosse Point Farm, Michigan. In the 1956 French endurance test it was driven by Ed Hugus of Pittsburgh and John Bentley, auto racing expert of Sports Illustrated magazine. The C-C also finished second in class during the record 12-hour grind in Sebring, Fla.

Lester Roadster

Sports Illustrated, which gives national publicity to the Cumberland races every year, will be represented in the May airport show by John Norwood, 36, of New York, sales executive of the sports weekly. Norwood, who is bringing a Lester roadster here, has appeared in races all over the country.

Stanley R. March of Pittsburgh, race chairman, has advised the local Lions Club which co-sponsors the colorful classic, along with the Steel Cities Region of America, that the driver participation record will be broken this year. The record was set last year when some 250 of the nation's top sports car pilots "heavy footed" their powerful machinery around the 16 mile course.

DeVincezo Takes Top Money in Colonial Golf

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — Roberto de Vicenzo, the lisping-accented Latin who understands little English but who savvys the American dollar very well, had 5,000 of the latter to convert into pesos today after winning the Colonial National Invitation golf crown.

De Vicenzo, a product of the Argentine Pampas who plays out of Mexico City, charged out of the pack over the final 36-hole route Sunday with rounds of 68 and up over the 7,021-yard, par 35-35—70 Colonial Country Club course to nip Dick Mayer of La Jolla, Calif., by one stroke.

His winning 284, four over par, was the highest winning total in the 12-year history of the invitational affair.

Mayer, who stumbled in and out of trouble all afternoon after posting a fine three-under-par 67 in the morning, still pocketed $2,000 for his troubles and ran his year's winnings to $4,550. Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill., finished third with a 286.

Defending champion Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., had to share fourth place with National Amateur champion Harvie Ward of San Francisco, but since Ward couldn't accept the money, Souchak won $1,800.

Doug Ford, the season's big money winner, was fifth with a 288 and the $1,600 boosted his season total of $26,629.55.

Hart, Wilson Meet Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — Tonight's TV fight between Garnet 'Sugar' Hart and Al (Sugar) Wilson at St. Nicholas Arena sounds like a sweet one, but the odds-makers rate young Hart a lopsided favorite at 17-5.

Welterweight Hart, Philadelphia 21-year-old knockout specialist, is heavily favored because of his punch over 31-year-old Wilson of Englewood, N.J., who hasn't had a bout in nearly five months.

Their 10-rounder will be widely televised at 10:30 p.m. e.d.t.

Iron Liege's Win Makes Old Ben Jones Happy

By BEN A. JONES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Well, I guess you know all of us at Calumet are feeling pretty good today.

It was a bit disappointing last week when Gen. Duke pulled up sore and then we had to take him out of the Derby. Of course, we just had to go and do the best we could with Iron Liege, and you'd have to say he did fine.

We feel this is really quite a great victory for us, because we had to string along with our second-best horse and he won it.

As a matter of fact, he should have won by a length instead of a nose, but you don't hear much about the trouble he had — just about the trouble Gallant Man had.

Our horse ran into trouble at the three-eighths pole when he was moving up inside Federal Hill and Federal Hill moved over on him.

Willie Hartack had to pull him up and come around on the outside.

He would have won by daylight if that hadn't happened.

People sometimes ask me what is the secret of winning the Kentucky Derby. Well, there isn't any secret at all. You need the best horse to win, then you take care of him, and have some luck.

Doctors Suggest Surgery for Ted Kluszewski

CINCINNATI (UP) — Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs, faced with one of the biggest decisions of his baseball career, was scheduled to be released from the hospital today.

The home run hitting first baseman, hampered by a painful hip injury for the past 14 months, pondered a recommendation by his doctors that he undergo surgery to correct a "slipped disc" in his lower spine.

If Ted decides to have the operation, it will mean being sidelined for the remainder of the season. If he waits until fall, he will be playing in pain again for the second straight year.

Kluszewski entered the hospital a week ago today for a complete examination by nine doctors. They reported during the week end that the first baseman was suffering from a "protruding intervertebral disc of the lower spine."

Kluszewski's wife, Eleanor, said her husband had not reached a decision.

"This is something Ted and I want to talk over," she said. "But the final decision is up to him."

Yankees Deflate White Sox in Hurry with Sweep; Braves Win

By MILTON RICHMAN

All it took was a week end for the Yankees to break up the White Sox' pennant pipe dream and disillusion a lot of fans who were beginning to believe this might be an "off-year" for the Bronx Bombers.

The Yankees beat the White Sox three straight, including a 4-2 and 3-0 doubleheader sweep Sunday, while running their winning streak to six games and taking over sole possession of the American League lead for the first time this season.

The Red Sox also swept a doubleheader from the Indians, 5-1 and 4-3; the Tigers topped the Orioles, 3-1, and the Athletics sent the Senators down to their seventh straight defeat, 7-2.

Braves Increase Lead

Milwaukee increased its National League lead to two games with a 10-7 victory over Brooklyn; Cincinnati extended its winning streak to seven games by beating Pittsburgh twice, 6-2 and 7-3; St. Louis took both ends of a twinbill from Philadelphia, 8-4 and 2-0, and New York won the nightcap of a doubleheader, 6-2, after Chicago ended a nine-game losing streak with a 10-inning 8-3 triumph in the opener.

Little Bobby Shantz and Johnny Kucks pitched the Yankees to their pair of victories before 41,304 fans at Comiskey Park. Shantz hurled a seven-hitter to beat southpaw Billy Pierce in the opener and benefited from a three-run rally in the fourth that included Mickey Mantle's two-run homer.

Kucks gave up only three hits in the nightcap as the Yanks routed left-hander Jack Harshman with a three-run rally in the fourth.

Boston capitalized on four unearned runs in the first inning of the opener as Cleveland's Bob Lemon suffered his third defeat while Willard Nixon scattered 12 hits for his second win. Jackie Jensen's two-run homer helped Dave Sisler to his third victory in the finale. Mike Garcia was the loser.

Charley Maxwell's two-run single off loser Connie Johnson in the seventh inning gave Detroit its decision over the Orioles.

Tom Morgan and Harry Simpson teamed up to carry Kansas City to victory over Washington. In winning his second game, Morgan scattered 10 hits and blanked the Senators until two were out in the ninth. Simpson drove in four runs with a double and a pair of singles.

Hank Aaron, raising his batting average to a cool .417, was the big gun for the Braves as they wiped out a 7-3 deficit and knocked out Sal Maglie after three innings to beat the Dodgers. Aaron drove in three runs and scored four with a homer, double and two singles.

A pair of route-going pitching jobs by Brooks Lawrence and Don Gross paved the way for Cincinnati's sweep over Pittsburgh. Lawrence committed three errors in the opener, but posted his third triumph when Frank Robinson belted a three-run homer in the fifth. Gus Bell and Roy McMillan each drove in two runs in the nightcap to help Gross beat Bob Purkey. Bell and Hank Foiles homered in the second game.

Del Ennis, making his first appearance in Philadelphia since being traded to the Cards, had a royal "homecoming" day as he batted in three runs in the first game against his ex-teammates and two more in the nightcap. The Phils blew a 4-0 lead in the first game, credited to reliever Lloyd Merritt. Sad Sam Jones hurled a four-hitter to notch his second triumph in the finale. Bob Miller and Harvey Haddix were the losers.

Jim Bolger drove in five runs, three of them in the 10th inning, to help the Cubs snap their nine-game losing streak in the opener against the Giants. Rookie Dick Drott registered his first major league victory for the Cubs. In the nightcap, Joe Margoneri pitched a seven-hitter for the Giants, who drove Moe Drabowsky to the showers in the third.

Shoemaker Takes Blame for Gallant Man's Loss in Derby

By RAY AYRES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Willie Shoemaker took the rap for Gallant Man's nose defeat by Iron Liege in the Kentucky Derby, but trainer John Nerud today blamed improper pole markings at Churchill Downs for the $100,000 "rock."

"I blame the race track more than Willie for the error," said Nerud, who talked Shoemaker into riding Gallant Man after the colt's regular pilot, John Choquette, was suspended almost on the eve of the classic.

Nerud went on to explain that at most race tracks the poles used to designate the final furlong, the last sixteenth (110 yards) and the finish line are varied colored.

Poles Same Color

"All the poles are the same color at Churchill Downs," he added. "And the finish line should be plainly marked, especially when they have the winner's circle where it is, up the track from the finish."

Because Shoemaker misjudged the finish line, Gallant Man was thrown off stride for only a fraction of a second, but to owner Ralph Lowe of Midland, Tex., it meant the difference between a first place pot of $107,950 and the runner-up prize of $25,000.

Nerud still isn't sure whether he will give Gallant Man another crack at Iron Liege in the Preakness at Pimlico, May 18, but if he does run in the second of the Triple Crown classics, Shoemaker again will be in the saddle.

"I would be glad to have Shoemaker back on my horse," Nerud declared. "I can't think of a better boy."

Break For Hartack

Both Gallant Man and Bold Ruler, the Derby favorite who finished fourth, were heading back to New York today. Bold Ruler is expected to start in the Preakness, but Nerud wants to delay a decision on Gallant Man because "he is rather delicate . . . and he has had two rough races in a row."

Iron Liege and his stablemate, Gen. Duke, who was scratched from the Derby because of an ailing foot, will leave Tuesday for Pimlico.

Among the other Derby starters, Round Table (third) and Federal Hill (fifth) also are considered probable entries in the Preakness, along with such non-Derby starters as Inswept, High Sparkle, Gannet, Big Paddy, Cohoes and Nah Miss.

When Gen. Duke was scratched from the Derby Saturday morning, Willie Hartack was switched from "The General" to Iron Liege, replacing Dave Erb. It was a big break for Hartack and he took full advantage of it, saving ground with Iron Liege most of the way to account for his first Derby victory.

But as long as derbies are discussed, racegoers will remember not how Iron Liege won this 83rd edition of the Rose Run but how Gallant Man and Willie Shoemaker lost it.

LAWYERS ENDORSE
JUDGE BAUER

It is important to you that the right man be your judge. You never know when you will be in Court to protect your rights.

A judge is elected for ten years — a long time in anybody's book.

As practicing trial lawyers over the years, we have found that:

1. A Judge must be HONEST, JUST and FAIR:

Which includes not only common honesty, but honesty of purpose in reaching a decision without regard to the people in the case; mindful of human frailties so that mercy seasons justice; fair not only to litigants, but also to witnesses, jurors and anyone having business with the Courts.

In ten years on the Bench we have seen that JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER is honest, just and fair.

2. A Judge must be CAPABLE, LEARNED and EXPERIENCED:

There are over 650 volumes of Supreme and Superior Court decisions in this state and the Legislature turns out about 2,000 pages of laws every two years. A judge is required to find his way through this jungle to reach and make decisions.

Ten years of close study of these books and of hearing and deciding all kinds of cases have made JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER invaluable to the people of this County.

3. A Judge must be INDUSTRIOUS and EFFICIENT:

To serve the cause of justice, a judge must be on the job. Not only must he regularly serve his turn on the Bench, but he must be available day in and day out and often at night; when, for instance, a person is unlawfully imprisoned, or a criminal is about to flee, an Order must be entered immediately.

JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER has never missed a day of Court, and he was eight years on the Bench before he took a vacation of any kind. In addition to the trial of the usual types of cases, he has also assumed the disposition of all juvenile cases.

A judge must speed the trial of cases. Today the business of the courts, — not only the trial of cases, — but the daily administration of justice has greatly increased. Speedy trial and prompt decision is essential.

No one is required to wait for months in Judge Bauer's Court for a decision. His docket of cases is always up to date.

4. A Judge must be REPUTABLE and PATRIOTIC:

A judge's character should be above reproach.

JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER is not a carouser, and he is in every sense of the phrase a family man. He is a church member and regularly attends church, and bears a good reputation in Westmoreland County.

A judge must be a good American. Nobody knows when the Communists will try to upset our way of life and control us. A judge should respect American institutions and stand firm against Communism.

JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER is patriotic

A judge who has served a regular term is known as a "sitting judge".

All over the country, a good sitting judge has always been entitled to re-election regardless of party.

JUDGE EDWARD G. BAUER is a good sitting judge and deserves your vote.

Hearings on Tax Cut To Open Next Month

WASHINGTON (UP) — A joint congressional subcommittee has scheduled hearings next month that could set the stage for tax cuts.

The subcommittee has called some of the nation's leading economists and top government fiscal officers for a review of the U S economy.

The subcommittee plans to ask the economists if they believe taxes should be cut and—if so—what groups should receive the chief benefits

The public hearings could be an important factor in determining future congressional tax strategy A number of influential Republicans and Democrats have expressed hope of tax relief next January

The hearings will be conducted by the subcommittee on fiscal policy of the Joint Congressional Economic Committee. The subcommittee is headed by Rep Wilbur D Mills (D-Ark), an influential member of the tax - writing House Ways & Means Committee

Among other things the group will want to know what is the outlook of the nation's economy for the rest of the year and how much of a budget surplus is in prospect as a result of cutting the budget

Other congressional news.

Delinquency — A Senate Judiciary subcommittee reports that prostitution, venereal disease, drug addiction and drinking are increasing alarmingly among American teenagers The subcommittee called for a "partnership" between Congress and state and local groups "to do something about this blot on the American scene" It said in a report that more than one million youths between 10 and 17 will be brought before the courts in 1965 if the present upward trend of juvenile delinquency continues.

Housing — House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr (Mass.) predicted the House will reject this week a housing bill providing "veterans preference" in the purchase of FHA - insured homes. Martin said he believed the House would pass a substitute bill authorizing sharp reduction in down payments on FHA - insured homes for all buyers.

Civil Rights — Sen Jacob K Javits (R - NY) charged that "foot dragging" by Democratic leadership has kept Congress from acting so far on civil rights legislation Javits said 'very little was done and is being done' by Democratic leaders to bring the measure to a vote

Labor—Sen Irving M Ives (R NY) said disclosures before the Senate Rackets Committee have led to increased demands for a national "right to work' law Ives said, however, that passage of such a law "might prove disastrous to labor - management relations

New Vaccine May Prevent 'Grippe'

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — A new vaccine which the Army tested last winter on thousands of recruits has proved more than 90 per cent effective in preventing certain types of severe respiratorial infections.

Major drug companies have already begun producing the vaccine in quantity for the Army. Officials believe it will save the armed services millions of dollars a year in lost time and medical care.

The vaccine does not prevent the common cold. It is effective against three types (strains 3, 4 and 7) of the so-called adeno viruses.

These viruses, which scientists only recently have begun to isolate and classify, are responsible for many of the more severe upper respiratorial infections which are accompanied by fever. The ailments they produce are known to laymen as "grippe," "severe cold," virus pneumonia, catarrhal fever, sore throat and inflamed eyes.

Strains 3 4 and 7, against which the new vaccine protects, are called the "military strains" of adeno viruses because they are particularly prevalent among Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine recruits The Army Medical Corps estimates that 8 recruits out of 10 come down with one of these adeno virus infections at some time during basic training About 2 out of 10 have to be hospitalized.

No one knows for sure why the "military strains" of viruses are so selective in their choice of victims — preferring servicemen to civilians by a wide margin, and within the service, singling out recruits for especially heavy assault.

One plausible theory is that these strains have a high degree of contagion where persons who have not built up an immunity to them from previous exposure are brought together in close-contact living conditions, as in an Army barracks

The vaccine was developed at Walter Reed Army Medical Center here by a research team headed by Dr Maurice Hilleman Defense Secretary Charles E Wilson recently presented Hilleman the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, highest military decoration for civilians, in recognition of his work.

Extensive trials of the vaccine were conducted last winter at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo Hilleman will formally announce the results at a medical seminar sponsored by the American Medical Association in New York June 5.

Pending this official presentation, Hilleman refused to give a reporter specific figures on the field test results. The fact that the vaccine was more than 90 per cent effective was learned from other sources of unquestionable authority.

The test at Fort Leonard Wood reproduced on a large-scale a trial of the vaccine conducted at Fort Dix, N J., in the winter of 1955-56. The vaccine was administered to 311 recruits at Fort Dix, and was found to be 98 per cent effective against the particular strains of virus it was designed to combat.

Another vaccine against the military strains of adeno virus has been developed at the National Institutes of Health by a research group under the leadership of Dr Robert J. Huebner.

Nicaragua, Honduras Call off Border War

MANAGUA (UP) — Nicaragua and Honduras have agreed to call off their border war pending an international ruling on the century-old dispute that touched it off, it was announced today.

President Luis Somoza said Nicaragua is willing to observe the truce provided Honduras does so. He warned, however, that any "new aggression" by Honduras would mean "total war."

Ricardo M. Arias of Panama, chief of the 10-man fact-finding board that came here from Washington to investigate the conflict, said the two Central American nations have agreed to stop fighting at least until the board has submitted its report to the Organization of American States.

The agreement gives the fact-finders, representing the United States, Argentina, Mexico, Bolivia and Panama, four days to work out plans for a settlement of the border dispute.

The ban on troop movements halted a Nicaraguan column which was headed for Yalaguina, 30 miles inside the Nicaraguan border, to retaliate for a reported Honduran attack on the garrison.

The only other military action reported over the week end consisted of raids by Nicaraguan and Honduran warplanes on various villages in the disputed area. There was no report of casualties.

The disputed area is a 12-mile strip of the "mosquito Coast" whose ownership has been in question ever since Nicaragua and Honduras won their independence from Spain.

The late Spanish King Alfonso XIII, acting as an arbitrator, awarded the territory to Honduras in 1906, but Nicaragua never recognized the ruling.

Israel Is Nine Years Old

JERUSALEM (UP)—Nine years ago this month the United Nations carved the nation of Israel out of Palestine, and Jews the world over gave thanks that once again they had a homeland.

The name Israel literally means God strives." So far, it has been an up-hill fight against often discouraging odds. But the determined little nation thrives and grows stronger on adversity.

There has seldom been a moment of peace in Israel since it was born May 15, 1948. Its Arab neighbors observed the occasion by bombing the land from the air.

Israel's antagonism with its Arab neighbors mounted rapidly when Egypt blockaded Elath, its only port on the Gulf of Aqaba and in 1950 barred Israeli shipping from the Suez Canal.

Last October the little nation struck back with two lightning moves into Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and the Gaza Strip.

It took considerable pressure from the United Nations to force Premier David Ben-Gurion to recall his efficient little army, but by that time Israel had regained freedom of transit in the disputed Aqaba gulf and had wiped out strong Egyptian commando bases in the Gaza Strip.

While pleading for peace on all sides, Israel continues to dig in.

Nothing Ventured!

WASHINGTON (UP) — Smithsonian Institution scientists, tired of wondering how Florida's Seminole Indians have predicted hurricanes as much as a month in advance, asked a Seminole weather prophet for his secret, according to a report issued today. "Moon tell me," the Seminole said, and the scientists went back to wondering.

Stevenson Again for End to H-bomb Tests

WASHINGTON (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson has renewed his demand that the United States take "some moral initiative" to end all hydrogen bomb tests now.

The tests amount to "contamination without representation," he said.

Stevenson made his demand as Democrats wound up three days of meetings here in which they assailed the administration for "appeasement" in foreign policy.

The twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate said Sunday night on a television program Meet The Press, NBC) that he was concerned about the "ultimate peril" to the human race if H-bomb testing continues.

He conceded there is a wide difference of opinion among scientists as to the dangers of radiation fallout resulting from the tests. But he said they agree there is a danger and differ only as to its "extent."

The Advisory Council of the Democratic National Committee issued policy statements Sunday flailing the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign and domestic issues.

The committee said the administration "has substituted improvisations for policy, appeasement for leadership, posturing for deeds and advertising slogans for information."

It said the United States enjoyed the "respect and confidence of the free world" when President Eisenhower took office. But now it said, "We are mistrusted and even feared by our friends."

Stevenson also attacked the administration's foreign policy saying the United States is now in the "most perilous period" since World War II.

Flood Relief In Texas; Heavy Damage Reported

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)— Floodwaters receded today from rivers in the Texas flood belt and the sun blazed again. It was the second day of relief for the state after a 19-day spell of violent weather.

Slight danger remained along the Sabine River in parts of western Louisiana, but the floods that wreaked millions of dollars in damage in nearly every part of Texas appeared gone.

Water still covered lowlands along many rivers, however. Flood crests along the Trinity and Brazos were surging toward the Gulf of Mexico, and during the two weeks it is expected to take them to reach the coast they will cause more lowland flooding.

One million dollars has been authorized to flood-stricken areas by President Eisenhower, and Gov. Price Daniel estimated the damage to public facilities alone at more than five million dollars.

He Has Liking For Tobacco!

COBH, Ireland (UP) — Philip Richland of Miami, Fla., has been ordered by customs officials to appear in court Tuesday to explain his liking for tobacco. Authorities said luggage which he asked be stored in a customs shed contained 286 pounds of cigars, 68 pounds of tobacco, 26 pounds of cigarets and nine pounds of snuff.

Beautiful Blonde Ghost Haunting; Bringing Friends

DUDLEY, England (UP) — The Westwood family has written to Queen Elizabeth and the Lord Chief Justice of England complaining that they are being haunted by a beautiful blonde ghost and her eight ghostly admirers.

Ted Westwood, his wife and three strapping sons moved into an old inn here four years ago, where they said they discovered a ghost haunting the house, the ghost of a beautiful blonde Victorian.

That was all right, Westwood said, but she attracted eight ghostly admirers including the bowler-hatted former licensee of the inn.

Westwood complained that the blonde ghost has a "particularly upsetting effect on his sons and not only keeps them awake at night but has "inserted a devil-may-care atmosphere that lures them into deeds of wildness."

He said he had written in his plea for help. "I never used to believe in ghosts, but when you have nine of them you have no alternative."

The Potomac river valley above Washington is rich in Indian remains.

2 Card of Thanks

GRILLO — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Joseph Grillo. The ministrations of the Rev. John J. Thomas, masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers, as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of my dear husband, John Misehlyshyn, who died three years ago today, May 6, 1954.
Memories are treasures no one can steal.
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal:
Loved dearly in life and living yet,
In the hearts of the ones who will never forget.
Sadly missed by His Wife

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Shelby McWilliams, who died one year ago today, May 6, 1956.
One lonely year has passed away
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that day
We still remember well.
Your end was sudden
It makes us weep and cry,
But Oh, the saddest part of all
You never said good-bye.
God gave us strength and courage
To carry the blow, but what it means to miss you
God will only know.
Sadly missed by Mother, Sister, and Brother, and Family.

In loving memory of my husband, Shelby McWilliams, who died one year ago today, May 6, 1956.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in my heart,
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled,
The boon his Love had given,
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.
Sadly missed by Wife, Mother-in-law, and Family.

Girard College Alumni Fighting Order of Court

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Girard College Alumni Association says the question of whether negroes are admitted to the college is not a racial discrimination issue but centers around whether Stephen Girard's will shall be carried out.

The Alumni Association, in a recent letter sent out to the school's 6,500 graduates, said it will do everything in its power to uphold Girard's will in the future, as it has been upheld for the past 109 years.

The Philadelphia Board of City Trusts, the group which administers the Girard estate will ask the U.S. Supreme Court for a rehearing on its decision last Monday that negroes must be admitted to the college.

The letter states that if the highest court denies the request, the case will be returned to the state Supreme Court for further proceedings.

General Strike Is Urged for Colombia Today

BOGOTA (UP)—Students angered by the death of a teenager in week end rioting here called on the Colombian people today to support a 24-hour "general strike" against President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla.

Twelve opposition newspapers in various cities responded to the call by announcing that they will suspend publication indefinitely. Two of them shut down Sunday, saying that emergency regulations made it impossible for them to publish.

Sixteen-year-old Ernesto Aparicio, who died of a throat wound Sunday night, was the first fatality of the noisy but usually non-violent anti-government demonstrations that flared up here last week.

He is believed to have been injured by the firing pin of a tear gas bomb when police gassed the congregation of the Porciuncula Church, whose priest was preaching an anti-government sermon.

The army took over the city Saturday night, ostensibly as part of a "routine military exercise."

The disorders in Colombia were touched off by Rojas' aspiration for a second term.

Drop in Production For Steel Industry

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—A reduction in mill demand by some segments of the steel industry dropped production below 90 per cent of rated capacity last week for the first time since September of 1955, Steel Magazine said today.

The figure was based on comparison with similar weekly periods since September 1955, when there were no holidays or strikes in effect.

The publication reported that steel mills operated at 88.5 per cent of capacity during the week ended May 5, or 1.5 points under the preceding week's level. During the week ended April 28, production held steady for the first time in many weeks after a steady decline.

Yield for the last week was 2,265,000 tons of steel for ingots and castings.

The metalworking weekly said the operating slump reflects a reduction in demand for steel, with a larger percentage of inventories shifting into the 30-to-60 day category. The magazine's latest quarterly survey of stocks showed 49 per cent of respondents with 49 per cent of their inventories in the one to two month category. Compared with only 40 per cent three months ago.

Largest inventory reductions over the next three months will be in hot and cold-rolled sheets and strip, light plates and hot-rolled carbon bars, buyers' estimates revealed.

Other excess inventories are reported in hot-rolled alloy bars, galvanized sheets, seamless tubing, and stainless sheets and strip, steel said.

An increase in steel prices by midyear is expected to put some check on the buyers' inclination to continue inventory reductions. The weekly magazine said users are presently reluctant about keeping large stocks on hand, since most forms of steel are easy to obtain.

Oil industry tubular needs and shipyard requirements are rising, with a heavy consumption now developing among makers of line pipes, railroad freight cars and heavy industrial equipment.

A 4.5 per cent price increase in mill products April 30 pushed steel's base price composite on finished steel to $140.24 a net ton in the week ended May 1. The composite thus rose 53 cents for the period. For the past month it had held at $139.71.

Veteran Teenage Star Is Indebted to TV

By MARJORIE LORD

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — As Danny's new wife when the Danny Thomas Show goes on CBS-TV this fall, I have a feeling I'm going to be classified as one of those "overnight discoveries."

I can hear it now.

"Where did she come from?" "What's her background?" "She been under wraps or something?"

This after being in show business from the time I was 15!

That's when I was typed in Hollywood. By the time I reached my mid-20s I was what is bluntly known as "washed up" in movies.

The crazy fact is that I was an "old face" to practically every studio casting director on the coast. So far as most of them were concerned, I was a teenager who had, unfortunately, outgrown her teens.

Does Anyone Care?

Who needed a veteran teenage type like me, when there were untold numbers of dewy-fresh little newcomers storming the sanctuaries of Hollywood?

Nobody asked me what I had to offer as an actress. Nobody cares that the years had given me valuable training and stage experience along with maturity.

To many film fans I would have been a "new face." Being such an "old face" to the casting offices I couldn't make the hurdle to become a "new face" for audiences.

Indebted To TV

I'm deeply indebted to television and the people who cast TV shows. They didn't care if I was a new face or an old face as long as I could act.

They knew it's an actress' job to be a new face every time she takes on a new role. So week after week in the fast pace of television they cast pros with a solid background, using performers who get lean pickings from the movies because they have been used up and written off as types.

At this point I'm willing to go out on a limb and name the best casting director in town. It's Danny Thomas. You see, Danny personally cast me as his new wife on the Danny Thomas Show, with gracious endorsements from producer-director Sheldon Leonard and executive producer Lou Edelman.

Your Health—

Troubles with Eyes Can Often Betray Ills

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

You may have eye trouble and yet have little or nothing wrong with your eyes. The cause of the disturbance may be something entirely unsuspected.

Perhaps you feel as though you have a gritty foreign substance in one of your eyes. If the eye specialist you consult observes that the pupil is abnormally small and there are massed yellow particles in the fluid portion of the eye, he may diagnose your trouble as gout.

Of course he'll have laboratory tests conducted to support his belief. Sometimes gout can be found in this way even before any joint pain has developed. Clearing up the gout condition probably will clear up the eye trouble.

Diabetes sometimes is the cause of sudden nearsightedness. Even a mild case might make you notice that you can't see as well as you did a few weeks previously.

Again, laboratory tests are needed to confirm a diagnosis. When once confirmed and treatment is instituted promptly, recovery of normal vision is likely to follow.

Of course, something much more serious might lead you to suspect eye trouble. Headaches, often an indication of visual difficulties might at times actually be caused by brain tumors.

Brain tumors, incidentally, are responsible for one out of every 200 deaths. Eyesight men probably detect them more frequently than any other doctors.

Tuberculosis, too, sometimes affects the eyes. Perhaps sudden flashes of light, spots and blurred vision will signal a TB infection.

Prompt and proper treatment however, usually can restore both health and eyesight.

Question and Answer

J. C.: Is it wise to expose a child to diseases such as measles, chickenpox, mumps and scarlet fever, or delay his getting them as long as possible?

Answer: It is not wise to expose the child to the contagious diseases. Every effort should be made to keep him from getting them.

ROSTRAVER TOWNSHIP

Students from Township Take Part in Play

A spring Festival of Music was held last week at California State Teachers College. The festival consisted of scenes from favorite Broadway musical hits which included "Call Me Madam", "South Pacific", "Damn Yankee", "Pajama Game" and "The King and I".

A group of Rostraver Twp. school children appeared in the scene from "The King and I". They were Jim White, Mary Katherine Sersen, Carole Heath, Lois Santmyer, Juletta Domenick, Mary Ann Uram, Susan Naylor, Grace Ahlborn and Nancy Hughes. The princes were Tommy Beck, Harry Wall and Chuck Hominey.

The children were under the direction of Leon Trembach. Piano accompaniment was furnished by Rosemary Tarka and Trembach. In charge of make-up for the group was Mrs. Gertrude Sersen.

The choral group is made up of children from the fifth and sixth grades at Lebanon School in Fellsburg. They are active now in learning scenes from various Broadway hit musicals and hope to present these in the near future. They have made a number of appearances in the valley and will present "The King and I" at the Rostraver High School for students tomorrow.

The group were also accompanied to California State Teachers College by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Heath.

Donna Henderson Entertains Group

Others present included Pauline Bucci, Vivian Novakowich, Lucy Capacasa, Helen Revak and Marie Hayduk. The next meeting will be held at the home of Helen Ruth Dutchko.

Eileen Hughes, president, and Elizabeth Marciniak, were reported as on the sick list

The birthday of Helen Hughes was observed by presenting the honor guest with cards and a cake.

Seven new members were taken into the club: Eva Altiers, Sophia Kerekes, Thelma Rosborough, Norma Hornbake, Dorothy Nagy, Alberta Larson, and Mary Trembusy. Lunch was served by the social committee in charge of Noreen Glister. She was assisted by Ann Guth, Julia Kara and Margaret Halkowitz.

Games were played and prizes were won by Irene Isyanski and Margaret Halkowitz. A special prize was won by Eva Altiers.

Mrs. Helen Ruth Dutchko, of Shepler Hill, is visiting in Texas with the Albert Binley family, formerly from this vicinity.

Mrs. Joseph Painter has returned to her home in R. D., Belle Vernon, after being a patient in Westmoreland Hospital, Greensburg.

Lassie Is Versatile

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Lassie soon will be barking in more languages than any other animal actor. The Lassie TV films, now available in English and Spanish, soon will be "dubbed" in Italian, Japanese, French and German, according to the show's owner, Jack Wrather.

Water Problem In State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Steps must be taken soon to conserve water supplies in Pennsylvania if serious trouble is to be avoided, according to a University of Pennsylvania geologist.

Even though the state has a fairly good rainfall average, Dr. Wakefield Dort, Jr., Penn State assistant professor of geology, said a future water shortage can be headed off only if these steps are taken.

—Greatest possible use made of existing water supplies.
—New sources located.
—Basic research concerning water problems encouraged.

"In most parts of the state there are supplies of surface and subsurface water sufficient to satisfy local demands, Dort said. "However, in some areas, especially centers of recent population increases and the sites of rapid industrial expansion, supplies of chemically pure water are far from adequate.

"Here, great effort is being made to locate and stop pollution of existing supplies of water and to find additional pure sources. In most instances, these additional supplies must come from subsurface reservoirs of ground water.

"To find them it will be necessary to carry out careful inventories of ground water and to make detailed studies of the geological formations and structures which control the occurrence of this water.

"Also needed is basic research which will lead to a better understanding of how water occurs and moves through permeable subsurface materials of all types."

Surveys by the Ground - Water Branch of the U.S. Geological Survey, Dort said, now are in progress in several parts of Pennsylvania, including the Wyoming Valley, Philadelphia and the western plateau area.

To assure the continued development of the state, the geologist said, more of such work is necessary. He also urged expansion of basic research into the entire subject of the physical laws regarding the occurrence and movement of underground water.

TO ALL EARS!

SECRECY is the secret to success. No football player will divulge his signals, no inventor will make his inventions public; no competent corporation official will divulge business information to a competitor.

If I make my plans known, my opposition would capitalize on them by doing what I propose. SINCHAK was for a 30 foot wide Schoonmaker Ave. I had to convince them by my many articles. And who is taking credit for it, yes, Parente. Another example of what I mean is: FOUR YEARS ago I campaigned on the issue of tearing down the bus terminal and using it for a parking lot. The Mayor, bus owner, and their gang ridiculed me with all kinds of false gossip by telling bus passengers that they'll be exposed under the weather.

Shortly thereafter: THE "A & P" saw the ADVANTAGES that I proposed and this PRIVATE FIRM TOOK ADVANTAGE of it. They arranged to buy it, and built the parking lot just like I proposed. Yes, the Mayor is trying to take CREDIT FOR WORK DONE BY OTHERS. Why was Sinchak smeared for having such good ideas?

I predict that the Parking Plaza will be a WHITE ELEPHANT similar to the First National Bank Bldg. which was "EMPTY" for 23 years.

How many downtown property owners who are Parente's friends have their tax assessments lower than others and WHY? I told you four years ago that this Mayor plays POLITICS with TAX ASSESSMENTS. Why do the REST of you taxpayers have to pay more to make up the difference?

I wrote an ARTICLE four years ago entitled "RUMORS" which appeared in the April issue, 1953, which I predicted overhearing a conference which was very confidential and DENIED by MAYOR PARENTE in which I SAID, "THAT COUNCIL WAS GOING TO DOUBLE YOUR TAX ASSESSMENT." THEY DID EXACTLY THAT and then amended it after much protests.

Also four years ago under the title "TAXES INCREASED"? I wrote and predicted in the April, 1953 issue of the Daily Indep. that MAYOR PARENTE WOULD INCREASE YOUR PROPERTY TAXES. What happened? On Nov. 30, 1956, just a few months back, MAYOR PARENTE AND "HIS" SLATE "INCREASED" YOUR PROPERTY TAXES.

Mayor Parente has to FLOAT a Councilmanic Bond issue, that is the "REAL" reason your Schoonmaker Avenue repaving is going to be done after election. Why doesn't "HE" tell you WHY?

NOW I'll predict that if PARENTE IS ELECTED, HE WILL INCREASE YOUR TAXES A "SUBSTANTIAL" AMOUNT WITHIN THE NEXT FOUR YEARS. I can guarantee you this and I'll bet on this! I expect to explain this in another article, why?

I told YOU four years ago that PARENTE does things for his FRIENDS. Yes, he'll widen every street WHERE THE BUS TRAVELS for his friends; the bus owner, and on top of that he'll force you to park your car in your yard on EVERY street the bus travels.
